An analysis

Decision point near in war?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 13-day-old Arab-Israeli war may be approaching its decisive point in the great tank battle churning the sands of the Sinai Desert near the Suez Canal.

That is the judgment of Pentagon analysts studying reports from U.S. military attaches and U.S. diplomatic representatives in Israel and Egypt

"In the next day or so, we should be able to tell if this is the decisive battle," said one official who obviously hopes for an early end to the fighting on both the Egyptian and Syrian fronts.

U.S. military authorities said the Israelis had the initiative in developing the Sinai battle.

A key question in the minds of U.S. officials is whether the Israelis and Egyptians will choose to fight until one side is clearly defeated, or whether they would accept a settlement allowing both to claim a measure of victory.

As these officials view the overall situation, Israeli gains in Syria and the course of the fighting in the Sinai so far have produced the makings of a possible long-term settlement, "if reason prevails."

Although the Syrian army still is in action, the Israelis have hurt it badly and have advanced well beyond the 1967 cease-fire line they held before fighting broke out Oct. 6.

"The Israelis may have an acceptable situation there," said a Pentagon strategist. "They have the basis to negotiate a pullback to the ceasefire line in return for security assurances."

By implication, the Syrians are in such a poor situation militarily that they would have to accept the best deal they could get.

On the other front, U.S. officials say that both Egypt and Israel might be able to claim victory if the Egyptians kept even a narrow foothold on the Sinai bank of the Suez Canal.

According to this scenario the Egyptians could say they had won back part of the Sinai and perhaps could reopen the Suez Canal, while the Israelis could say they had held Egypt to territorial gains and they might be able to press for access to the canal for shipping.

Although the United States is replacing Israel's battle losses in planes, tanks and other equipment, defense authorities acknowledge they are uncertain of Israel's war aims.

However, they say there are signs that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat may have had only limited objectives in sending his army across the canal in an attack coordinated with that of the Syrians.

The continued withholding of a significant part of the Egyptian air force from the battle is viewed as one such possible sign.

Another significant indicator is the reported construction by Egyptian forces of a line of fortifications in the strip of Sinai land they have taken from Israel, defense sources said.

U.S. intelligence specialists say this suggests that Egypt hopes to consolidate its foothold on the East bank of the Suez Canal rather than to try to retake more of the Sinai, which was lost to Israel more than six years ago.

Some U.S. military men feel the Egyptians could be inviting disaster if they went to a static defense.

Israel's strategy has been to concentrate on neutralizing Syrai's army and air force before throwing its main strength at the Egyptians.

When the war opened, about 75 per cent of Israel's air force and much of its armor and artillery were hurled at the Syrians, who had scored early breakthroughs threatening Israeli settlements. The Egyptians were about 150 miles away across the Sinai desert from Israel proper and the Israeli command chose a holding strategy against them for the time being.

Some U.S. military men believe the Israelis would have been in deep trouble if the Egyptians had followed up their surprise crossing of the canal with a sustained a offensive. This would have forced Israel to defend against all-out attacks on two fronts simultaneously.

But the Egyptians in effect pulled up after penetrating only a relatively few miles into the Sinai. Most of their line still reaches only from three to six miles east of the canal.

Meanwhile, the Israelis have driven beyond their 1967 ceasefire line onithe Golan Heights and within about 16 miles of Damascus, the Syrian capital.

The war already has lasted more than twice as long as the six days it took Israel to defeat the Egyptians, Syrians and Jordaniens in 1967. This time, the Jordanians have avoided opening a third front along their border with Israel and are fighting only in Syria.

Egyptian losses heavy, Israelis say

Tanks clash along Canal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel claimed it destroyed 90 to 100 Egyptian tanks Wednesday in a fierce battle that continued into the night along the Suez Canal. Egypt said the Israelis "suffered heavy losses in tanks and armored cars."

The Israeli drive into Syria still was bogged down about 21 miles from Damascus. The Syrian front was reported quiet through the night after heavy Syrian shelling Wednesday.

Elsewhere in the Middle East crisis, the Arab oil countries pledged to cut their production 5 per cent a month to increase the cut by 5 per cent each month as long as Israel holds on to the territory it seized in the 1967 war. They hope their West European and Japanese customers will pressure the United States into ending arms shipments to Israel.

There was intense diplomatic activity in Washington and at United Nations headquarters in New York aimed at ending the fighting. But there was no apparent sign of progress.

Israel said its forces fought all day Wednesday in Sinai to "contain Egyptian counterattacks." Maj. Gen. Haim Herzog, the state radio's military commentator, said it was the "biggest armored clash in Israeli military history."

Chief of Staff David Elazar declared, "We are now calling the tune." But he added: "This is not Israel's major offensive."

The Egyptian command said fighting was continuing Wednesday night in the central sector of the Sinai front, but neither side reported any change in the battle lines two and a half to 10 miles east of the Suez Canal.

It was the second day on which the Israelis had claimed destruction of a large Arab tank force. On Tuesday they reported knocking out 105 Syrian and Iraqi tanks, while Syria that day claimed its forces destroyed 80 Israeli tanks.

Elazar said Israeli forces were "initiating the attacks on both sides" of the canal. An Israeli spokesman said the commando task force that crossed the canal Tuesday was still in Egypt, continuing to sabotage missiles and artillery. But an Egyptian general said the force had been destroyed.

Israel said its air force bombed military installations near Port Said, the Egyptian city at the northern end of the canal, and antiaircraft missile batteries. It said 10 Egyptian planes were shot down. Egypt claimed that its air force shot down four Israeli planes in one dogfight while ground fire downed 12 Israeli planes and five helicopters. It admitted the loss of one plane.

An AP correspondent on the Syrian front said Arab artillery was continuing to blast away at Israeli columns

Oil cutbacks by Arabs studied

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The proclaimed cutback in Arab oil production should have little immediate effect on U.S. supplies, an American energy expert says. But Western Europe and Japan, the Arabs' biggest customers, are expected to put pressure on the United States before long to reduce its support of Israel.

Arab oil ministers at a meeting in Kuwait Wednesday announced they would cut production at least 5 per cent a month until Israel gives up all territory it seized in the 1967 war and restores the rights of the Palestinian refugees.

Because the United States gets only about 6 per cent of the oil it uses from the Arab countries, the Arabs strategy was to squeeze the Europeans and Japanese in the hope that they in turn would put the screws on Washington, Israel's chief source of arms.

A 5 per cent cut in U. S. imports from the Arab countries would reduce the total supply in the United States only three-tenths of one per cent, the U.S. expert said in Washington. But he estimated the action would reduce Western Europe's supplies by 3 per cent and Japan's by 2 per cent.

The Nixon Administration is counting on imports of refined heating oil from Europe to meet the shortage expected this winter, and a reduced supply of crude to Europe would make refined products harder to get.

Since production is being cut back rather than exports, the effects of the decision may not be felt for several weeks. And the volume of production will decline very slowly if the reductions continue, since each month's cut will be 5 per cent of the previous month's production. But oil experts in Beirut predicted a major world oil crisis if the cuts continued for as long as four months.

One London oil analyst called the cutback "an extremely astute scheme.... It will make everyone suffer a little and put considerable pressure on Western countries to force Israel to come to an agreement with the Arabs."

Arab gunmen hold hostages

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Five Arab gunmen raided the Bank of America here today, seized between 20 and 30 hostages and reportedly demanded the release of all Palestinian guerrillas imprisoned in Lebanon.

Grenade explosions and machine gun fire resounded in the heart of Beirut's business district as police and army troops encircled the bank building. Pedestrians dived for cover.

After a two-hour gun battle in which one of the five gunmen, three policemen and five passing civilians were wounded, the gunmen agreed to negotiate with Algerian Ambassador Mohammed Yazid and a Palestinian guerrilla leader identified as Tewfif Safadi.

Lebanese Interior Minister Bahij Takieddin and several police chiefs were on the scene.

Yazid and Safadi reported that the gunmen were holding between 20 and 30 bank employes, but had agreed to release women employes and customers in the bank.

The gunmen were quoted as saying it was "not a bank robbery but an operation against American interests, with the twin purpose of securing the release of our comrades in Lebanese jails."

The gunmen also demanded safe conduct out of Lebanon and a plane to fly them to Algeria. Negotiations were continuing.

WCTU MARCHES AGAIN — History repeated itself in Hillsboro Wednesday as the Women's Christian Temperance Union marched along the city streets and past open bars. This re-enacted the scene of 100 years ago when 70 women marched to launch the famous saloon-closing crusade in 1873. Dressed in clothes of that earlier era, present-day WCTU members paraded through the streets with banners and signs. The parade launched a three-day WCTU meeting in Hillsboro. Woman sought with LSD-laced orange juice

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Eighteen persons in four cities fell ill after sampling orange juice offered by a woman who said she was doing a market survey. Police say the juice may have been spiked with hallucinogenic drugs.

All the victims were approached by the woman in central Florida shopping centers.

Ten persons were treated at a Lakeland hospital on Wednesday night and eight were admitted, two in poor condition. In St. Petersburg, three shoe store employes were treated for hallucinations and released.

Three persons in Orlando and two in Daytona Beach were listed as satisfactory after being admitted on Tuesday.

Many complained of hallucinations and all said they felt drunk with no sense of coordination, officers say.

The victims told Lakeland police they were shopping when approached by an attractive woman in her late 20s who said she was conducting market research and asked them to sample two kinds of orange juice.

"So far as we know everybody who drank the stuff has gotten sick," said Lakeland detective D. E. Peterson. "It seems to have been some hallucinogenic drug such as LSD."

In St. Petersburg, police said the woman first went to a jewelry store, but employes said they were too busy and she then went to a shoe store, where three workers drank the juice and became sick.

In Daytona Beach and Orlando, police said it was apparently the same woman who asked employes in jewelry stores to sample two brands of orange juice.

Three workers in the Orlando store and two in the Daytona Beach store were knocked unconscious by the drinks, which police said they believed contained a strong tranquilizer and hallucinogenic mixture.

"I began stumbling around and the next thing I knew I was waking up in the hospital at 3 a.m.," said Ralph Wecht, manager of Gordon's Jewelers in Orlando.

Police said the woman was described as a 5-foot-6 brunette who wore sunglasses and a wide floppy hat.

She claimed to be working for the International Survey Co. of San Francisco, which she said was conducting tests on a new brand of orange juice.

Nixon winner in tapes fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon had his first favorable decision today in his legal battle to withhold the White House tapes from the Senate Watergate committee and the special Watergate prosecutor.

U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica threw out Wednesday the Senate committee's request for a civil judgment affirming its right to demand the tapes from the President.

In his ruling, Sirica said the committee had failed to obtain authorization for suing the President. He said he was not making any judgment on the legal merits of the committee's case.

A committee spokesman said the decision probably would be appealed.

But Nixon still faces the formidable challenge of special prosecutor Archibald Cox's effort to obtain nine presidential tapes for the federal grand jury investigation of the Watergate break-in and cover-up.

In that case, Sirica ordered the President to give him the nine tapes Cox had subpoenaed. The judge said that only if he listened to the tapes could he determine if the President had a valid claim for keeping them secret.

Last Friday, the U.S. Court of Appeals upheld Sirica's ruling.

The President has until Friday to take his appeal to the Supreme Court, a move he is regarded as virtually certain to make.

The committee subpoenaed five tapes last July 23, the same day Cox subpoenaed nine. Three days later the President notified both parties that he would not comply with their subpoenas.

The President has contended that because the three branches of government are coequal and independent under the Constitution, neither a congressional committee nor a judge could force him to obey an order.

FBI drew blank, Ford claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford says the FBI probe for congressional confirmation hearings has uncovered no potentially embarrassing incidents in his past as far as he could tell from agents' questioning.

The FBI agents interviewed the House Republican leader in his office late Wednesday for an investigation ordered by confirmation committees in both the House and Senate.

Ford said he expects Congress to make an intensive investigation into his past—and said it will get his cooperation—because his is "a precedent-setting circumstance."

Ford, the first person to come under the 25th Amendment's new procedure for replacing a vice president, commented in an interview with The Associated Press.

"I believe that under the circumstances the person selected in this situation as in any other has to have his life exposed in a factual way to the maximum degree."

Ford also said he expects President Nixon to veto at least three more bills before he can be confirmed and begin work on his goal of trying to achieve compromises with Congress to avoid veto confrontations.

He said he agrees with Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield that a Republican vice president working closely with congressional Democrats to reach such compromises will be "a delicate operation."

"But that doesn't mean men of good will can't work together and achieve reasonably common goals," he said.

Here is part of the interview:

Q. People outside politics may have trouble understanding your acknowledgement that you helped G. Gordon Liddy get a job in government so he wouldn't run against a New York congressman. Do you think acknowledgements like that hurt you?

A. Every member of Congress from time to time—virtually every person in public life—is asked to endorse the candidacy of somebody for a job.

And in this case I did not initiate the job candidacy of Mr. Liddy. I was asked by the local public officials, the local party official in Duchess County, N.Y., to make a phone call on behalf of Mr. Liddy, which I did in April 1969.

The initial recommendation for the job was made through his own congressman and through the party officials.

Q. The Senate Rules Committee has asked not only for your income tax returns but for an audit of them. Is that all right with you?

A. Yes.

Q. The Senate committee also has asked your permission to obtain all the medical records, physical and even mental if there are such records. Does that bother you?

A. Not at all. I have told the attending physician at the Capitol to make any and all records available and to the best of my recollection I will give them the names of all doctors who have treated me in any way whatsoever.

I will also instruct those doctors to make any files concerning me available.

Ford bridge to Congress worthless?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford hopes to make his vice presidency a bridge between Congress and the White House, but history puts long odds against him.

That is a mission vice presidents have attempted before, usually without success.

Ford, the House Republican leader, is a man of Congress. House and Senate applauded his vice presidential nomination and signaled virtually certain confirmation.

He will take with him the friendships and knowledge gained in 25 years on Capitol Hill. His would seem to be ideal credentials for an administration lobbyist.

But other men with similar backgrounds have found it doesn't work that way. Even the late Lyndon B. Johnson, master of the Senate when he was leader of its Democratic majority, found himself without congressional clout as vice president.

The barrier has been one of institutional loyalties. And members of the Senate and House tend to be particularly wary of intrusions on their independence by a former colleague who has joined the executive branch.

One administration aide described the view in Congress this way:

"The minute a man takes that oath and lifts his hand off the Bible, he's gone. He's part of another branch of government."

Ford has said that as vice president he hopes to forge compromises and reduce friction between the Democratic Congress and the Republican administration. He said he might try to work at the committee level, dealing directly with the chairmen of the House and Senate panels that draft legislation.

He acknowledged that would be "a delicate operation" for a vice president.

A White House official said Ford undoubtedly will be helpful in dealing with Congress, particularly in shaping proposals, planning strategy and maintaining contacts with members.

But the official said he doubted any vice president could accomplish much by lobbying in committee or on the floor of Congress.

In nominating Ford, President Nixon said he needed a vice president who could work with members of both parties in Congress "for those programs of the administration which we consider are vital in the national interest."

That is a matter of persuasion, and a Nixon aide said it will be a sensitive one. As House Republican leader, Ford has marshaled a minority to uphold Nixon vetoes and battle legislation the administration opposed.

On confirmation, he moves across the Capitol to the Senate, where vice

Deaths, Funerals

Albert L. Whaley

GREENFIELD — Albert Lee Whaley, 87, of 534 South St., Greenfield, died at 12:10 p.m. Wednesday in Greenfield Municipal Hospital. He had been ill the past three weeks.

Born in Fayette County, Mr. Whaley was a member of the First Baptist Church in Greenfield.

He is survived by several nieces and nephews. One brother and two sisters preceded him in death.

Services will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Murray Funeral Home with the Rev. Eugene Fligor officiating. Burial will be in Greenfield Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Friday.

Solons fearful of war policy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republican Sen. William Saxbe and Democratic Rep. Delbert Latta, both from Ohio, voiced concern in Washington Wednesday about U.S. involvement in the Middle East War.

Meanwhile, Dayton's two daily newspapers reported that Wright-Patterson Air Force Base was being used as a supply depot for munitions shipments to Israel.

Saxbe urged the Nixon administration to make a complete disclosure to Congress and the people of the degree of U.S. involvement.

He said he did not want Americans to be victimized by the kind of secrecy and deception that he said preceded the United States' entry in the Vietnam War.

"We just extricated ourselves from one long and debilitating war in Southeast Asia, and I think it is folly to believe that the American people will tolerate direct U.S. intervention in the Middle East conflict," he said.

"Right now we're getting a lot of unconfirmed reports of arms shipments and reserve callups," he said, "but the Defense Department will not give us the facts."

Saxbe referred to reports of armament loadings at WrightPatterson near Dayton and at Lockbourne Air Force Base outside Columbus.

He said the defense Department has denied the bases were involved in any arms shipments to Israel, but it has refused to give the Senate Armed Services Committee detailed information on U.S. arms activity.

At Dayton, the newspapers reported that unmarked El Al Israel Airlines planes were making regular flights into Wright-Patterson to pick up munitions.

The arms reportedly consist mostly of bombs and rockets shipped to the base by truck and helicopter. El Al Israel was using commercial Boeing 707 and 747s to transport the arms, the newspapers said.

Funeral directors gaining status?

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— America's funeral directors— and death—are finally gaining acceptance in today's society says an official of the National Funeral Directors Association.

Funeral directors have been forgotten in the past and society "did not open the door until it needed him," said Royal Keith, NFDA treasurer and a practicing funeral director in Yakima, Wash.

The group is holding its national convention here this week.

"There are no taboos on talking about death today," said Keith.

"It has become an exciting thing."

Howard Raether, NFDA executive director, said the public is taking more interest in the once-scorned subject of death.

He points to the widespread coverage of President John F. Kennedy's funeral as a factor in the new acceptance. Now, he says, high schools and community groups want to know more about death and the post-death process.

"Before Kennedy (was assassinated) we never told kids about death," Raether said.

"Then kids saw the assassination on television. And they televised the funeral. They saw the world literally stand still. They saw men from all walks of life and leaders acknowledge death had occurred and give testimony.

"The funeral was a vehicle which allowed kids to see there was still an order to things," he said.

Raether said the funeral of assassinated civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., "allowed time for tempers to cool.

"The funeral is a stabilizer— a levelizer. It is a physical way of showing respect.

The NFDA officials agreed the form of funerals vary. They cited jazz funerals in New Orleans, where jazz bands play mournful music during the procession to the funeral, and happy ones on the return.

Motorcycle gangs honor their dead by filing past the casket of the deceased and place badges, emblems or other symbols of respect, the NFDA officials said.

Local morticians at national meet

Three local funeral directors, Richard and Roger Kirkpatrick, of Washington C.H., and David Morrow, of Jeffersonville, attended the 92nd annual meeting of the National Funeral Directors Association in Cincinnati. The Rev. Fr. Richard J. Connelly, pastor of St. Colman's Catholic Church, addressed a meeting of association officers and directors this week.

Raoul Pinette, of Lewiston, Me., reminded that while the cost of living in the United States has gone up 41.3 per cent in the last 10 years, the cost of dying has risen only 32.1 per cent.

"Funeral costs did go up," he said, "but we (funeral directors) are proud that we have been better able to hold funeral costs down. This is contrary to what some people think, but the figures have been surveyed and are fact."

More than 5,000 funeral directors from all 50 states, Canada and Mexico attended the convention. Comedian Steve Allen and columnist Virginia Graham addressed the convention.

Search for Mideast peace centers on U.S., Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The diplomatic search for an end to the Arab-Israeli war has narrowed with the United States and the Soviet Union engaged in extensive discussions over specific ideas.

These are said to center on linking a cease-fire to an overall settlement of the 25-year-old Middle East dispute.

Although there has been some progress in the talks, U.S. officials do not believe Washington and Moscow are ready to make a proposal public.

Progress in the talks were acknowledged Wednesday by State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey.

The negotiations are being conducted primarily by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Anatoly F. Dobrynin, Soviet ambassador to the United States. Any agreement would be sent to the United Nations Security Council for ratification.

While working for an end to the fighting, the United States is facing increased pressure from the Arab nations to pull back from its support of Israel.

The Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries announced in Kuwait Wednesday they will cut production at least 5 per cent a month until Israel pulls back from territory taken in the 1967 war and restores the rights of Palestinian refugees.

State Department officials were unclear Tuesday night about what this action meant, when it would take place and exactly what was being demanded.

The announcement from Kuwait did not specifically mention the United States, but Arab diplomats indicated the oil action was aimed at forcing the United States to pressure Israel into a compromise.

The official American position as outlined by Kissinger last week is that the Nixon administration will not relent in its support of Israel in the face of a threat and will take the consequences.

A heavy cloud cover over most of Ohio last night kept temperatures generally in the 40s and low 50s, averting a possible frost.

This cloud cover was expected to move rapidly out of the state early today as a low pressure trough pushed east. Generally sunny skies were expected this afternoon, with the possibility of some showers along Lake Erie.

Temperatures today were expected to climb into the low 60s in the south, but dip again into the low 40s this evening. Highs Friday were forecast in the low 70s south and upper 60s north under sunny skies.

Mostly fair Saturday through Monday, but a chance of showers in northern counties about Monday. Highs in the 60s and low 70s. Lows from the upper 30s to mid 40s Saturday, becoming more moderate from the mid 40s and low 50s by Monday.

presidents can preside and cast tie-breaking votes.

That was Johnson's base, yet when he took over the vice presidency, he found himself rebuffed by old colleagues. Later, as President, Johnson was a persuasive promoter of domestic legislation. That was not the case during his time as vice president.

Hubert H. Humphrey, now a senator again, moved from the Senate to the vice presidency. He did his lobbying carefully and offstage, often at small, private luncheons, not on the Senate floor.

Then came Spiro T. Agnew. Early on, he tried lobbying on the Senate floor for votes on administration measures. Not only did it fail, it was counter-productive.

On a tax bill, Agnew approached former Republican Sen. Len B. Jordan of Idaho on the Senate floor to ask how he would vote.

"Mr. Vice President, don't twist my arm," Jordan said. Later, Jordan told Republican colleagues that any time he was pressured on the Senate floor by anyone representing the administration, he would vote the other way.

There were other setbacks, and Agnew gave up his overt attempts at lobbying. He seldom appeared in the Senate during his latter years in the job he resigned a week ago.

"It got so we had a hard time getting him up there to break a damn tie vote," an administration aide said.

War in Mideast

bogged down on the road to Damascus. Elazar, however, said "everything is fine" in the northern theater of war.

A Syrian communique said that "on the northern front, our armored forces and artillery foiled an enemy attack on two of our forward positions and forced the enemy to retreat."

The communique said Syrian tanks and artillery destroyed three Israeli rocket sites, four artillery batteries, at least 40 tanks and 39 other armored vehicles. The Syrians said their air defenses knocked down five Israeli planes raiding civilian targets and one helicopter. The Israelis said they downed five Syrian aircraft.

Israel reported fighting with Jordanian tanks in Syria for the first time in the war. Tel Aviv radio said Israel now is holding 832 prisoners of war from Egypt, Syria and Iraq—96 of them officers.

On the diplomatic front, President Leopold Senghor of Senegal said Premier Golda Meir had written him restating Israel's readiness, often expressed in the past six years, to withdraw from Arab territories after the conclusion of a peace treaty that gives it "secure and recognized borders." As usual Mrs. Meir did not delineate the new boundaries Israel demands, but they are known to require retention of large chunks of occupied territory, including the southeast coast of the Sinai peninsula, the Golan Heights and the Gaza Strip.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said at the United Nations that Israel "will certainly be ready for most subtantial compromises" with the Arabs after its security is assured.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said Tuesday, however, that he would be willing to sit down at a U.N. peace conference only after Israel withdraws from the occupied lands.

President Nixon met Wednesday in Washington with the foreign ministers of Saudi Arabia, Algeria, Kuwait and Morocco and said later that peace "can and will be achieved." Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin was rumored to be heading up a secret mission to Cairo.

King Hussein of Jordan, speaking Wednesday for the first time since the war began, said peace could be very close or very far away, depending on Israel's attitude.

"I believe very strongly that Israel is now in a position to make up her mind and should do so without fail," he said. He said security should be based not on occupied territories and geographical barriers but on people showing "a willingness to live together and when just solutions have been found to a problem, based on honor."

Armco sets $95 million coke complex

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Armco Steel Corp. announced today a $95 million project to concentrate its cokemaking operations here and phase out older coke ovens at Houston, Tex., and New Miami, Ohio.

An Armco spokesman said the new pollution-controlled coke-making complex should be in operation by the third quarter of 1976 and will be built adjacent to existing facilities in Middletown.

The spokesman said the company is confident it can absorb the approximately 120 Houston employes who would be affected into other Armco operations in Houston.

And the spokesman said the 150 New Miami employes affected will get first crack at jobs in the new complex.

The spokesman said Armco will continue to operate two blast furnaces at New Miami and one blast furnace at Houston.

Coke requirements for the furnaces will be provided by the new Middletown facility, he said.

He said the new complex will include two batteries of 58 coke ovens each, plus supplemental handling systems and a new byproducts plant.

He said the new facility will also help offset future energy needs by generating sizeable quantities of coke gas for use in steelmaking operations here.

He said the company wanted to emphasize that a large portion of the $95 million investment will be earmarked for environmental controls.

He said that Dravo Corp. of Pittsburgh and Firia Carl Still of Recklinghausen, West Germany, have been awarded the preliminary engineering contracts.

Balloons may spark UFO reports

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weather research balloons have prompted a new rash of reports of unidentified flying objects throughout the South and UFO-bugged authorities are bracing for more reports.

A huge balloon, 150 feet in diameter, was launched at Palestine, Tex., and authorities say it drifted over Mississippi at a constant 50,000-foot altitude. The weather service at Montgomery, Ala., also reported launching a balloon to an altitude of about 85,000 feet.

Many of the sightings occurred after the sun had gone down but a spokesman at the National Weather Service in Macon, Ga., explained the sun's light would reflect off the balloon long after dusk because of the high altitude of the object.

Meanwhile, officials at Eglin Air Force Base in Florida have announced high atmospheric rocket tests today and Friday and cautioned that the rockets could easily be mistaken for UFOs.

Air Force officials said the rockets would release glowing clouds of red, green, blue and yellow gasses.

A spokesman said the colors in the sky will be visible as far south as Miami, as far west as Corpus Christi, Tex., as far north as Memphis, Tenn., and along the Eastern seaboard to Charleston, S.C.

The rockets will be launched at two-hour intervals beginning at 6:30 p.m. EDT today and continuing through Friday night.

Despite official explanations, residents in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina continued to inundate local sheriff's offices with reports of UFOs.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Policemen and broadcasters in Kentucky received a stream of reports of mysterious lights in the sky Wednesday night and some said they saw the unidentified flying objects themselves.

One of the objects, which landed in a back yard in Franklin, was discovered to be strictly terrestrial in origin.

Lexington police said they received 25 or 30 calls about UFOs, and one officer said he saw two of them, one briefly and the other for about two minutes.

He said the one he saw best was a half-circle with white and red lights that appeared over the southeastern part of the city.

Rebozo firm gets federal backing through Nixon man

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman for a federal banking agency says it is "a big coincidence" that federal insurance for a savings association with connections to Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo was granted only after a new Nixon appointee took over the agency.

Federal insurance for deposits at the Key Biscayne Savings and Loan Association at Key Biscayne, Fla., was approved by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board on July 19, after having been denied in 1972 and again in March of this year.

The board originally rejected a federal charter for the same association in 1969.

Approval of the insurance was voted about six weeks after Nixon appointee Thomas R. Bomar became chairman of the board, which regulates savings and loan associations. A spokesman said the action was concurred in by the only other member of the board, Grady Perry.

The association is located in a building owned by Rebozo and two of its directors also serve as directors of a Key Biscayne commercial bank operated by Rebozo, a bank board spokesman confirmed Wednesday.

Approval of the federal insurance for the savings association followed by several months the first of two denials of a charter for a bank that would have competed with the Rebozo bank.

Rebozo strongly opposed the rival application for the bank charter, which was denied by the office of the comptroller in March of this year and again on Sept. 4.

President Nixon has a vacation home on Key Biscayne, an island of less than 10,000 population near Miami.

Asked why the insurance was approved in July after being twice denied previously a board spokesman said, "The need was not as clearly

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices opened fairly steady today as the U.S. dollar strengthened in Europe and the price of gold receded:

The Dow Jones industrial average, which lost 4.89 points on Wednesday to close at 962.52, was unchanged and advances and declines were about in balance on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said the market could easily undergo another bout of profit-taking before it resumes an upward climb that sent the Dow ahead 100 points early this fall.

While the Mideast war was sidelining some investors they added, the Arab cutbacks in oil production were not expected to have an immediate impact on the United States.

One encouraging note were reports that the president of Chase Manhattan Bank is predicting a reduction in the bank prime lending rate in coming weeks.

Active issues on the Big Board today included Texaco, down ⅛ to 30⅝; Union Carbide, up ⅛ to 41½; Shell Oil, up ⅜ to 62; Union Oil of California, up ⅜ to 45⅝; and Phillips Petroleum, up ⅛ to 62⅝.

ports, hoped its neutral policy in the Arab-Israeli conflict might exempt it from the cutback. But the Japanese Ministry of International Trade and Industry acknowledged today that the Arab producers may hit it, too, in hopes that Tokyo will put pressure on the United States.

A question both in Japan and in Europe was whether Iran would follow the lead of its Arab neighbors. Iran, not an Arab nation, is the second largest Middle East producer.

The decision to cut oil production as a tactic against U.S. support of Israel was taken at a meeting of the 10 members of the Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries, or OAPEC.

After a seven-hour session, the countries issued a communique announcing that they would immediately cut production not less than 5 per cent of the September production.

Exports cutting grain stockpiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — New statistics by the Agriculture Department indicate that exports continue to be a major factor in pulling down stockpiles of wheat, livestock feed grains and soybeans during the 1973-74 season.

The big exports also point to relatively strong farm prices for those commodities at least until 1974 crops are ready.

The Outlook and Situation Board in a new appraisal of 1973 production and expected use, said Wednesday that wheat exports now appear to be larger by 50 million bushels than anticipated in September.

But the new wheat export estimate of 1.15 billion bushesl is still about 200 million less than bookings by exporters indicate. As of Sept. 28, another report showed Wednesday, exports could run more than 1.3 billion bushels and practically wipe out the wheat reserve when the new crop is ready next summer.

The board also revised downward by 50 million bushels the amount of soybeans it says will be exported in 1973-1974. The total now appears to be 550 million bushesl, the report said. Export listings point to about 640 million bushels for overseas delivery.

Corn exports were not changed from 1.125 billion bushels estimated in September, but exporters say they have orders totaling about 1.3 billion for delivery this season.

Last week USDA estimated the 1973 cotton crop at 13.1 million bales, up 200,000 from indications earlier. That improvement plus a somewhat larger stockpile at the beginning of the new season last Aug. 1, points to a little larger reserve a year from now.

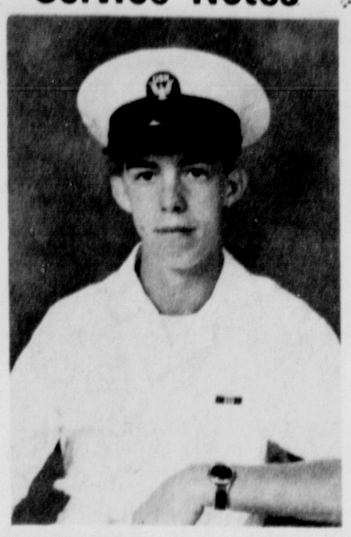

But meantime, the department says cotton exports now look to be six million bales, up 100,000 from the September estimate. That is about in line with exporter bookings.

Milk fluid price hike rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council, acting on a recommendation by the Agriculture Department, has turned down a request by dairy farmers for a boost in minimum prices for fluid milk sold under federal marketing orders.

Council officials said USDA recommended that "no further action be taken this fall" on proposals for increasing the minimum price for Class I milk — sold mainly for bottling — under federal marketing orders.

The decision, announced Wednesday, means that the regular method of adjusting Class I milk minimum prices will continue to be in effect. That system is based on the average price paid for milk used in manufacturing butter, cheese and dried milk in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Under the formula, which provides a two-month lag in using the so-called "M-'w series" of prices, the minimum for November will go up about 53 cents per hundredweight of fluid milk.

The September price for M-W manufacturing milk was $6.91 per 100 pounds, up from $6.38 in August.

Prices of Class I milk vary among federal marketing orders, but the formula provides uniform increases in the minimum prices they set.

"The alternatives, proposed by dairy farmers would have set a price floor above the record levels that the federal milk order formula prices are expected to reach on Nov. 1," the council said.

"Since market prices charged by milk cooperatives are likely to be higher than the formula levels proposed, the decision to reject proposals of milk producers is not expected to have any perceptible impact on the economic factors which will dictate the level of milk production in the future," the council said.

Public hearings were held in August and September in Clayton, Mo., during which dairy producers urged that the market order minimums be increased to help offset rising production costs.

The war powers bill

The matter of curbing presidential war-making powers has at last come to a head with agreement by House and Senate conferees on legislation to this effect. Final passage by both bodies is almost certain. The question is whether, should President Nixon reject the bill as expected, the momentum of congressional concern will suffice to override the veto.

The hope for such an outcome rests on the soundly based view that the constitutional power of Congress alone to declare war must be restored. What happened in Southeast Asia, including the fiasco of the Tonkin Gulf resolution's use by President Johnson as authorization to commit U.S. forces in any way he chose, underscores the importance of this.

One dissenting member of the House conference committee, Rep. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, scored the bill as an attempt "to put the president in a strait-jacket." The language of the compromise measure does not bear this out.

It says that the president can commit U.S. forces to hostilities only pursuant to "1. A declaration of war; 2. specific statutory authorization; or, 3. a national emergency created by attack upon the United States, its territories or possessions, or its armed forces." Beyoud this, the bill provides the following: undeclared hostilities must end in 60 days-or 90 days if the president certifies in writing that the extra time is required to protect withdrawing forces-unless Congress specifies a quicker halt by concurrent resolution.

This gives the president considerable leeway, but at the same time essentially reserves to Congress the right to decide when U.S. forces shall be committed on a long-term basis.

That is what the Constitution intends.

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

'It was as if a man had died'

Hugh Newton, one of the better Washington publicists, wrote a paper some five years ago warning his friends in a conservative study group that the new Vice President-elect, Spiro Agnew, was an uncertain ideological quantity. He had been a Rockefeller "liberal."

But Spiro, displaying a real brilliance and sharpness of intellect, delighted the conservatives by making their cause his own. He had help from the White House's Pat Buchanan in crafting four basic speeches on the delinquencies of the media, but he put his own impress on everything he had to say. He stood for many things that were true. And he assembled a staff that was far more competent than Nixon's own.

The "liberals," however, have been turning themselves inside out to use Agnew's moral flaws, which have been cruelly exposed, to discredit the whole conservative position. They won't be happy until they have reversed the philosophical verdict of the 1972 election, either by forcing Richard Nixon to come over to their ideas or by getting him to follow Agnew into limbo.

IT IS ADMITTEDLY hard to come to terms with the idea that a man can speak intellectual and philosophical truth and still be a slippery fellow in money matters. Daniel Webster, the "Godlike Dan'l," served the pre-Civil War Unionist cause with eloquence, devotion, and a supreme acumen for many years in the U.S. Senate. But when a Boston bank failed to come through with an expected bundle of cash, Daniel complained that his "refresher" had been forgotten.

Robert Morris, the financier of the American Revolution, made his own personal deals in the course of raising arms for Gen. Washington. But those were different times, and neither Daniel Webster nor Robert Morris had to contend with an Internal Revenue Service. History won't deal as lightly with Spiro Agnew as it has with some of the morally flawed great ones of previous eras.

The Agnew tragedy is a far worse blow to the conservative cause than anything connected with Watergate. To this date not a genuinely conservative White House operative or spokesman has been tarred with the scandals connected with the break-ins and attempted thefts of the "plumbers."

To my sorrow, I recall the delight of writing a column calling attention to the fact that Vice President Agnew had kept himself totally clear of the Watergate mess. The column spoke the truth, and I am not ashamed of it. Nor am I ashamed for perceiving, quite early, that Agnew had made himself a most effective "tribune of the people." He did just that for a brief brillaint period.

THE INEFFABLE TRAGEDY is that a most able intellect has been lost to the country simply because its possessor couldn't resist the temptation to take a little easy money. It is no excuse to say, in Agnew's behalf, that "everybody" takes payola of some sort or another. This doesn't happen to be true.

Agnew deserved what he got, and maybe a little bit more, even though conservatism has lost a most effective spokesman in the debacle.

Realization of what has happened explains the hushed quality of the reaction in conservative circles to the Agnew resignation. It was as if a man had died.

It does not follow at all that the Agnew tragedy proves the case for the chortling liberals. The election of 1972 was not a vote for personalities. It was a philosophical repudiation of the idea that Big Government, financed by every-recurring and ever-mounting deficits, can solve our social problems.

Liberal panaceas are just as bankrupt as Spiro Agnew's fiscal morality. To turn the country back to the forces that have brought it to the brink of economic ruin is no solution to anything. We can only hope that the next "tribune of the people," whoever he may be, will be morally straight in addition to being philosophically right.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Careful scrutiny of Ford urged

WASHINGTON — Rep. Gerald R. Ford's confirmation as Vice President is insured by the cozy, clubbable spirit that enfolds a 25-year veteran of the House of Representatives.

But that should not foreclose a thorough inquiry into the sources of secret and unreported campaign contributions to Ford's congressional races in 1970 and 1972.

By comparison with the big gobbets of money fed into the Nixon campaign this is peanuts. Coming as the money apparently did from financial and industrial sources expecting favors or at least favorable consideration in return, this is one more example of the evils of the system of campaign financing by big money that reached a scandalous climax in 1972.

The Agnew case is in itself a sufficient warning for those who might want to let the Ford confirmation slide through. One of the mysteries out of that scandal is why the facts of Spiro Agnew's wheeling and dealing in Maryland were not brought to light when he was tapped by Richard Nixon in Miami Beach to be his running mate in 1968.

Was the FBI asked to investigate? And, if they investigated, were the results of the investigation ignored?

THE AGNEW AFFAIR cannot be simply filed and forgotten, nor can anything he now says mitigate the bill of particulars filed by Attorney General Elliot Richardson with the Baltimore court.

His sentence was a slap on the wrist. Compassion for a man disgraced in the second highest office in the land may have dictated the deal that was made with the Department of Justice.

But it will seem to many one more piece of evidence that the law means one thing for the powerful and the rich and another thing for the powerless and the poor. In a brief excursion into Middle America I heard comments such as this: "What would have happened to me if I had been guilty of evading my income tax? You know I wouldn't have got off as easy as that."

Ford has a respectable, if undistinguished, record in the House. As minority leader he has never wavered in his support of the Administration's foreign and domestic policies. This may be the function of the Republican leader in the swarming mass of the House — to me-too and to round up as many votes as possible.

In helping to sustain the President's vetoes Ford has been the faithful Dutch boy with his finger in the dike.

ONE OF the few initiatives he has taken was his effort to bring about the impeachment of Justice William O. Douglas. The minority leader rounded up close to 150 signatures on a resolution to impeach the justice who is about to equal the record of the longest service of any judge ever to serve on the high tribunal.

Promoting the Douglas impeachment, Ford said that the cause for removal could be any crime the House decided on. This opened a broad avenue, with special significance now that Ford is about to hold an office subject to impeachment.

The principal charge against Douglas was his connection with the Parvin Foundation and the allegation that the foundation had ties with organized crime and the Las Vegas gambling casinos.

This whole matter should be thoroughly examined in the course of the inquiry into Ford's fitness to be Vice President. Did the White House back the impeachment move? The answer to that question could be very interesting.

IMPEACHMENT is not just an unthinkable process. It was put into the Constitution by the Founding Fathers as a legitimate means for the removal of corrupt federal officers. There was not other way a President or a Vice President could be removed from office.

With the Supreme Court soon to pass on the President's contention that he can refuse anyone the right to hear the confidential tapes he made of all White House conversations, impeachment will be very much to the fore. Justice Douglas will be one of the nine to pass on the confidentiality issue. The President has spoken of the force of a "definitive" decision by the court but he has never defined "definitive."

These are mind-boggling times, with war and the threat of a larger war just over the horizon. Ford cannot be considered an ordinary Vice President, a chair warmer as so often in the past. His influence as an inflexible conservative can extend far beyond the function of breaking a tie vote in the Senate.

Clubbable spirit to one side, the country is entitled to know everything about Gerald Ford's past and present.

"AND THIS GOES FOR THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT, TOO."

Hal Boyle . . . Life in the office

NEW YORK (AP) — About the lowest form of life in the average business office is the character almost everyone calls "the moocher."

Everyone looks down on him, and more bad things are said about him to his face than are said about the boss behind the boss' back.

Every office, no matter how small, has at least one moocher, and larger offices may have several. But they are all united by a common philosophy: They want something for nothing and, if possible, they want to mooch it from you. Here are a few familiar types of white-collar moochers you may have noticed in your office:

"Merton the Muncher" — Merton never buys a lunch or brings one. He depends upon the largesse of others for his midday calories. At lunchtime he goes from desk to desk, his eyes mournful, his tongue hanging out like a collie's, and stares in turn at his fellow workers until they toss him a tidbit from their brown bags: Everyone despises Merton, but they can't turn him down. He has gained 30 pounds in 10 years, and the company doctor tells him he'll have to go on a diet or die. Merton's probable choice: death before diet.

"Nelson Nicotine" — Twenty years ago Nelson decided to quit buying cigarets in hopes of breaking his one-pack-a-day habit. He decided he'd smoke only those he could borrow. Now, after two decades of mooching, he is smoking three packs of cigarets a day — and has an ominous-sounding cough.

"Cash and Carry Phil" — Phil only mooches money. He tells you it's a loan. "I'll pay you back next Friday and move you up a paragraph in my will — but he never keeps his word. What does Phil do with all the dough he mooches? The office gossip is that (1) he spends it on a love nest, or (2) he is paying blackmail to the boss' spinster secretary who caught Phil stealing from the petty cash fund when he was only an office boy.

"Kermit the Connoisseur" — This neurotic nut is the one-of-a-kind moocher. He may mooch only paper clips, pencils, ballpoint pens, or paper pads. But whatever it is, if you ever could see the inside of his desk, you'd find it overflowing with the stuff.

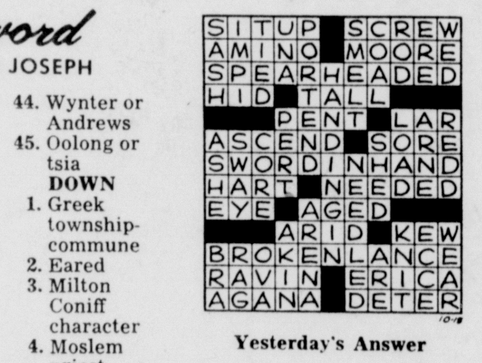

"Minnie the Moocher" — She takes two hours to put her makeup on in the morning, and she regards herself as the office femme fatale. Minnie's goal is to live on borrowed love, and she tries to do this by attempting to mooch either the husband or boy friend of every other girl in the office. Minnie gets a lot of anonymous threats over her home phone — all from women whose voices she thinks she recognizes. She regards the threats as a form of flattery to her prowess.

That leaves one kind of officer moocher unclassified. Who is he? If you don't know, ask your best friend — but don't be offended if he gives a frank answer.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Don't want a divorce? Then forgive and forget

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are both 53. We have three married, college-educated children any parents would be glad to claim.

My wife and I married very young. (Shotgun wedding.) We are well off and respected in the community, but here's the problem:

My wife never worked outside the home. She spent all her time raising her children, and she did a fine job. About six years ago I caught her and the insurance man kissing in our kitchen. She swore it would never happen again. Two years later I caught this same man kissing her in the parking lot at a V.F.W. party. Again she swore she would never see him again. Last summer I caught them again. This time there was a big fight, and she confessed they had been seeing each other for six years, three afternoons a week!

She doesn't want a divorce, and this man (also married) doesn't want one either. I don't really want one.

Do I love her? No! I could walk away from her and never look back, but I'm too old to start over.

How do other man who have been in this boat handle a situation like this?

NO NAMES, PLEASE

DEAR NO: How other men handle such a situation may be of no help to you. You need to decide how YOU want to handle it. Talk it over with your wife. It will take a lot of forgiving and forgetting, and forgetting what you forgave to keep your marriage intact. You say you are too "old" to start over! Plenty of men would give a lot to be 53 again. Life is short. Make it sweet.

DEAR ABBY: Since our second child was born, our 3-year-old daughter has been helping me immensely by answering the phone when I am busy. She speaks quite clearly, and answers the phone with, "Hi, my mommy is busy with the baby, but she is coming now."

Some people hang up as soon as they realize a small child has answered. Our daughter is so proud that she can help Mommy in this way. It takes only a few moments to listen to her, and makes her so happy.

Maybe your printing this letter will make some people more tolerant of a small child who answers the phone.

BUSY YOUNG MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Maybe. But maybe not. Youngsters answer ing the phone is the pet peeve of a surprising number of adults.

DEAR ABBY: I'm not sure whether I have a problem. Here's the situation: I'm 26 and my wife, Diane, is 22. We got back from our honeymoon last week and are living temporarily with Diane's parents and her sister, who is 21.

Our first night back, Diane was about to leave our room to take a shower when I noticed she had nothing on at all. When I reminded her that her father was in the house she gave me a puzzled look and left the room, naked. That was nothing. Since then she often goes around the house with very little on. She even irons clothes in the kitchen in her bra and panties. Yesterday I came home and found her sitting on the floor watching TV completely naked while her sister was setting her hair. Her sister always wears a little something, but not much. Their father was in the next room reading the paper.

Last night when I spoke to her about it she said that's the way she was brought up. I let it drop and decided to write to you.

Abby, I have no sisters so I don't know how girls normally act in front of their fathers. Are my wife and her sister typical? If I'm the one who's out of line please tell me, and I'll keep quiet.

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: In some homes, nudity is accepted casually, but they are the exceptions-not the rule.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC-TV's documentaries in past years have been largely on the soft side, lacking hard questions and strong impact. This season, the network vows to reverse that tradition.

It's off to a good start tonight with a fine, well-documented study of coal mine safety — and lack of it — both above and below the scarred soil of West Virginia.

Entitled "West Virginia — Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Coal," its primary virtue isn't really the now familiar recitation of mining-related disasters in that state.

It's rather the show's patient examination of the failure both by the state and Washington to vigorously enforce the laws, even the weakest ones, that aim at preventing those disasters.

The key words are "vigorous enforcement" and the thrust of tonight's show is that few officials care to know what vigor means.

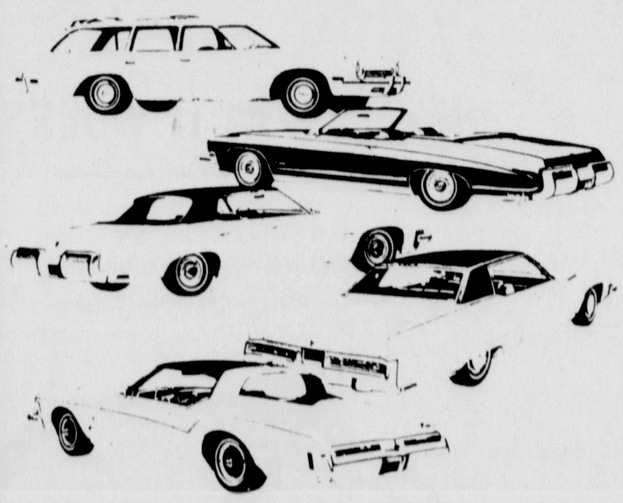

Much of the program checks on the impact in officialdom of last year's failure, during heavy winter rains, of a coal refuse dam owned by a subsidiary of Pittston Coal Co.

The failure was major, releasing flood waters that swept through a hollow at Buffalo Creek, W.Va., killing 125 persons there.

Fashion models become film stars

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Where do the new female stars come from? Right out of the fashion magazines and television commercials, according to the current trend.

The old movie story that starlets are plucked from chorus lines and malt shop stools is now just legend. Film producers now pick high-fashion models.

Examples:

Marisa Berenson, who appeared in "Death in Venice," "Cabaret" and is now starring with Ryan O'Neal in a Stanley Kubrick film.

Cybill Shepherd, director Peter Bogdanovich's star on and off the screen. She appeared in his "Last Picture Show," is now making "Daisy Miller" for him and also played the cool heiress in "The Heartbreak Kid."

Jennifer O'Neill, the beauty who brought love to teen-age Gary Grimes in "The Summer of '42". Her other films: "Lady Ice," "The Carey Treatment."

Twiggy, who did a creditable job in "The Boy Friend" and recently filmed a thriller called "W."

Latest to join the ranks of model-stars is Ann Turkel, whose slim brunette beauty has appeared on the cover of every fashion magazine in the United States and Europe. She is appearing opposite Richard Harris in "99 and 44-100 per cent Dead," directed by John Frankenheimer for 20th Century-Fox.

Having gone from cover girl to star in her first film, Turkel would seem to offer a case history for the casting trend. She denies it.

"I studied acting since I was 5," she said. "I was taking dramatic lessons from Sandy Meisner at the Neighborhood Playhouse in New York and I was 14 and I began playing in summer stock at 16.

"I went into modeling only because I thought it was better to be known as an employed model than an unemployed actress."

Her tall willowy frame and high-cheeked enigmatic face made her an immediate favorite with fashion photographers and magazine editors. After her first year as a model, she almost fulfilled her acting desires. Paramount picked her to star in a musical remake of "Roman Holiday," calling her a "present-day Audrey Hepburn." But the project never got off the ground, and she went back to modeling.

Her view of the model's life gives a hint on why so many of them seek careers in films.

"I'd be a liar if I didn't say it was boring," she remarked. "I know people are indignant when I say so; they ask, 'How can anything that pays so well be boring?' Well, it is.

"There are some photographers, like Richard Avedon, who are fun to work with. But with most of them it is sheer boredom."

During five years as a model, Ann Turkel made between $80,000 and $100,000 a year posing for the fashion pages and an occasional television commercial. She could have made more if she had been willing to take all kinds of modeling jobs.

New officers elected by Fellowship

New officers were elected by the Christian Women's Fellowship of First Christian Church during the business meeting held Tuesday evening at the church. Elected were: President, Mrs. Clark Gossard; vice president, Mrs. Talmadge Taylor; secretary, Mrs. Charles Ford; assistant, Mrs. Robert Maust; treasurer, Mrs. Paul Maughmer; and her assistant, Mrs. Charles Sheridan. They will be installed at the next meeting.

Mrs. Orpha Willis conducted the meeting and Mrs. Walter Parsley presented Scripture reading and led group singing.

Mrs. Everett Robbins, program chairman, spoke of decorations for the fall season, arrangements, and door hangings. She introduced Miss Ann Wallace of the Dayton Power and Light Company who gave a talk and demonstrated holiday lighting, both indoor and outdoor, with decorations.

During the social hour, a Halloween decor prevailed with a flower arrangement in the center of the refreshment table. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Parsley, Mrs. Glenn Jett, Mrs. Carl Elberfeld, Mrs. Dale Matthews, Miss Delores Cadwallader, Mrs. David Lucas, Mrs. Don Baker and Mrs. Coyt Stookey.

QUEEN CANDIDATE — Melinda Shaw, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Byers Shaw, 436 Jupiter St., is a candidate for queen at the College of Wooster's 55th Homecoming. 'Mindy,' a senior sociology major, plans to teach retarded children following graduation. She has been active in EKO's, a local sorority, having served as president last year. Her hobbies include swimming, water and snow skiing, bicycling and tennis. A brother, Steve, is also a student at Wooster.

Zeta CCL tours Laurel Oaks

Zeta Child Conservation members traveled to the Laurel Oaks Vocational School for the October meeting. A two hour guided tour of the campus were conducted by James Fleisher, superintendent of student services, when 15 members of Zeta CCL were informed of the many opportunities in the diversified career development programs. Following the tour, the group enjoyed refreshments prepared by one of the Food Service classes.

Pecan orders and Christmas card orders should be turned into the treasurer, Mrs. Ronald Warner, soon. Profits from these sales go into the club's philantrhropic fund.

The next meeting will be Nov. 20 in the home of Mrs. Paul Hughes. The annual talent sale will be featured at this time.

Local girls attend OEA Convention

On Saturday, October 13, 1973, Region IV of the Office Education Association held its annual convention at Upper Arlington High School in Columbus. Five Cooperative Office Education students from Washington Senior High School attended. Diana Brown was a candidate for the office of Vice-President; Vicki Clay gave the nominating speech for Diana and Karen Helmick gave the seconding speech; Dianna Combs and Rose Johnson were voting delegates.

The convention was opened by a general meeting, after which individual training sessions were held for club officers. In addition, employers from various businesses around Columbus spoke on career possibilities and the qualifications and techniques involved in securing jobs.

Mrs. Regina Del Ponte, COE Coordinator of Washington Senior High School, was assigned to assist Mrs. Noreen Armstrong, a representative of the Columbus Ohio Bell Telephone Employment office.

Following the sessions, a mock political campaign was held. The newly elected Region IV officers are: President, Brenda Thomas of Eastland; vice president, Carmen Moore of Delaware Hayes; secretary, Evelyn Fields of Franklin Heights; treasurer, Michael Pheneger of West H.S.; historian, Cathy Collins of Linden-McKinley H.S.; and parliamentarian, Dorothy Lewis of Eastmoor H. S.

THE BETTER HALF — By Barnes

"What are these lipstick marks on the refrigerator and stove?"

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FRIDAY, OCT. 19

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Be alert to those who would mislead you, do not expect too much in the way of help from others and do not scatter energies. Taking such precautions, you can make a good go of things.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Searching for offbeat avenues toward achievement could lead you astray now. Do the best you can in your own field and gains will be yours.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Let your instincts guide you now since your chances of attaining goals are excellent. Imagination and a little daring could pay off handsomely.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Patience will be needed in a few tricky spots but day, on the whole, has a big potential. Avoid undue haste, anxiety. You CAN deliver the goods.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Tackle that difficult job you've been postponing, and your anxieties will vanish. Facing a problem head-on is half its solution.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

There will be tendencies to rush into visionary schemes, impulsiveness generally. Avoid! Put your guard up early, and KEEP it up!

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

You may have to accomplish more than anticipated, but do not let anything stymie you or your enthusiasm. Stars are on your side.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Do not jeopardize a fine opportunity to stabilize your REAL interests through indifference and DO by-pass nonessentials. Have a try at an eye-catching new method.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Some past agreements may have to be revised, strengthened. Competition should enliven the day in an interesting and challenging manner. Be responsive to new ideas.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Consider all propositions and suggestions offered, but do not be inveigled into anything that's NOT up your alley. Fine influences stimulate your ambition.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Excellent opportunities indicated, but they may not all be on the surface. You will have to seek some out for yourself. Control annoyance with "lesser lights."

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with zestful enthusiasm, a fine mind and an unusually strong sense of justice. You like people, can be a tremendous help in organizational work, and your thoughtful opinions, coupled with your fair-mindedness, would help you to excel as either a lawyer or jurist. Your practical and artistic gifts go hand in hand and if you are engaged in a prosaic occupation, you might take up one of the arts as a pasttime. Many noted statesmen, musicians, illustrators and designers have been Libra-born.

Two are to be elected Nov. 6. Domenico is a candidate for reelection but Mark Schaeper, whose term also ends this year, is not.

William Sollars spoke of the need for the two school levies — 1-mill renewal and 2-mill additional — which also will come to a vote. Mrs. Richard Maddux made an appeal for support of the .02-mill public health levy, which also will be on the Nov. 6 ballot.

Variance requests granted by board

Three variance requests received approval of the Washington C.H. Zoning Board of Appeals at its regular meeting Wednesday in the City Office Building.

The requests were submitted by Edward J. Wright, 604 High St., to establish a labeling business at his residence;

Chester H. Estep, 902 Pearl St., to sell Christmas trees at his residence.

Joseph O'Brien presented the charter for Cub Pack No. 4 to PTO President William Boylan. It was the 13th charter for the PTO-sponsored pack.

Two skating parties were approved, the first on Jan. 17 and the second on April 4 at Roller Haven.

Before and after the meeting parents visited the classrooms and talked with the teachers. Refreshments were served after adjournment.

GIANT PUFFBALL — There are puffballs and puffballs, but it's doubtful that many of them are as big as this one William Nungesser found on his farm near New Martinsburg. It weighs 10 pounds and measures 4 feet and one inch in curcumference. There were many others in the field, but none could compare with the giant. Nungesser said he has been gathering puffballs for years, but never found one so huge. Puffballs are of the Lycoperdaceae family of fungus and are neither mushrooms nor toadstools. Pure white inside, Nungesser said they are delicious to eat when peeled, sliced and fried.

Two men are fined after gun incidents

A Washington C.H. man, charged with discharging a firearm within the city limits in connection with the shooting of 20-year-old Steve Haithcock, was fined $25 and court costs in Municipal Court Wednesday.

Donald E. Cooper, 26, of 321 Florence St., was fined $25 by acting Municipal Judge John P. Case after he pleaded guilty to the charge. Neither Haithcock nor Mark Pettiford, reported to have been the intended victim of the shots, had signed affidavits which would have enabled police to press more serious charges.

Cooper allegedly began firing after an argument with Pettiford and two pistol slugs struck Haithcock who is in a Columbus hospital.

Herman Merritt, 56, of 615 High St., failed to appear in court to answer the same charge and forfeited $100 bond. Merritt was charged with discharging a firearm within the corporation limits after he wounded his wife during a domestic quarrel. She, too, refused to press other charges.

Robert M. George, 24, of 418 S. Fayette St., was fined $200 and court costs and received a suspended 30-day jail term when he was found guilty of possession of marijuana. He was sentenced to another 30 days in jail, 27 of which were suspended, for being found in a place where marijuana was kept. He was fined $50 and costs on that charge.

FOUR OTHER persons were scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Wednesday on non-traffic charges.

POLICE

Fined:

Charles Howell, 25, of 940 Gregg St., $25, malicious destruction of property.

Fred Mabra, 52, of 1004 John St., $25 and suspended 30-day jail term, defrauding an innkeeper.

SHERIFF

Bond forfeitures:

James M. Lute, 39, Jamestown, $50, intoxication.

Orbie S. Lute, 63, Jamestown, $50, intoxication.

The Miami Tracer

Lora Brooks, Editor-in-Chief

MTHS Seniors of Week

LORA BROOKS

DEIDRE LANGE

MARIANNE ARNOLD

By BARBARA MARVIN

Lora Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brooks, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, lists Physics and Advanced Math as her two favorite subjects. Along with these courses, Lora is also taking English Composition, Sociology, Government, World Literature, and Journalism.

Not only is Lora active in her studies, but also in extracurricular activities. She is the secretary-treasurer of the Bowling Club, secretary of the Science Club, and participates in Y-Teens and Future Teachers of America. Last spring Lora was inducted into National Honor Society. She is also a member of the MiTra staff, and is co-editor in chief of the Miami Tracer. Lora attends Madison Mills United Methodist Church.

LORA HOPES to obtain a NROTC scholarship and attend Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where she will major in physical oceanography. If not, she plans to attend the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Fla.

Reading, writing, and being outdoors are Lora's favorite pastimes. She said this about being a senior: "My years at Miami Trace have been great, but I'll be glad when graduation comes."

"My years at Miami Trace have been interesting and enjoyable, but I am looking forward to graduation and college." This comment about graduation is Deidre Lange's, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lange, Rt. 1, New Holland.

Deidre is very active both in and out of school. This year she is studying Psychology, Music Theory, Sr. Homemaking, American Government, English Composition, Journalism and Family Living, and is a member of Senior Choir.

She is a junior Sunday School Chorister, and is in Seminary and MIA in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints at Grove City. At Miami Trace, she is a member of National Honor Society, American Field Service, Y-Teens, Future Teachers, Dramatic Arts Club, and Folksingers, and is an office worker. Deidre is also in Junior Leadership, Country Cousins 4-H Club, and the Farm Bureau Regional Cabinet.

Music Theory is Deidre's favorite subject. Playing the piano, writing, and cooking are her hobbies.

Deidre is interested in music as a career and plans to pursue her talents at Brigham Young University.

Marianne Arnold is the third featured senior this week. Marianne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Arnold, Rt. 2, Washington C. H.

Marianne is a member of Marching Band, Pep Band, Y-Teens, AFS, Future Teachers, FHA, National Honor Society, Junior Leadership, Junior Fairboard, and two 4-H clubs, the Staunton Stitch and Stir and the Concord Swine.

MATH AND English have been Marianne's major academic subjects in high school. This year, Psychology, Advanced Math, American Government, Senior Homemaking, Physiology, English Composition, and Band are her subjects. Her favorite subject is Government. Marianne's hobbies are horseback riding, sewing, band, and swimming.

Marianne plans to attend college and to major in elementary education, but is undecided as to which college she will attend.

Her comments on graduation were: "I think Miami Trace is a really great school, and I've enjoyed all the clubs and activities I've been in. I just hope all the underclassmen can enjoy and gain as much from their high school years as I have."

Introducing . . .

By DAWN SCHLICHTER

Now teaching Typing I and business math at Miami Trace is Mrs. Charlotte Cassio. Mrs. Cassio also advises the yearbook, the MiTra.

Originally from Sabina, Mrs. Cassio attended Weber College in Florida for two years and received a Bachelor of Science degree from Wright State University. She was employed as an accountant for the Greyhound Lines in San Francisco for four years and was employed at Proctor and Gamble in Cincinnati for two years.

MRS. CHARLOTTE CASSIO

Music, sports, swimming, and playing the organ are among Mrs. Cassio's hobbies. She is currently residing near Sabina with her nine-year-old son, Irvine.

When asked her impressions of Miami Trace, Mrs. Cassio commented, "I think that the students are friendly and enthusiastic, and the faculty is friendly." She added that the school has a great deal of new equipment, and Miami Trace is a beautiful building.

News service staff reports MT activities

By KATHY JUNK

To give the community an accurate, concise, and interesting account of what goes on at Miami Trace is the job of its news service.

Reporters must be sure of all facts, dates, names, and spelling. With this information they construct clear and informative articles for the Miami Tracer page.

Lora Brooks is editor-in-chief for the first semester and Barb Marvin for the second semester. Photographers are David Foster and Tom Payton. Anyone who wishes to write should give his name to the editors or the advisor.

Cherry Hill PTA votes to become an 'independent'

Members of the Cherry Hill Parent-Teacher Association have voted to sever its affiliation with the national and state PTA and become an independent Parent-Teacher Organization.

After contributions of $35 to each fulltime teacher, Title 1 and the art teacher and $75 to Cub Scout Pack 229 had been approved, the group, at its first meeting of the school year, voted to support the two school levy proposals at the Nov. 6 election. Lee Lynch explained the need for the 1-mill renewal and 2-mill additional levies for the city schools.

President John Rich introduced the teachers, Mrs. Judy Jennings, first grade; Mrs. Norma Wilson, second grade; Mrs. Versa Angus, third grade; Mrs. Edna Watts, fourth grade and principal; Mrs. Caroline Shaper, fifth grade, and Mrs. Sam Forsythe, sixth grade.

The other officers, who also were presented, are Roger Mesecher, first vice president; Mrs. Watts, second vice president; Mrs. Barbara Eakins, secretary, and Mrs. Lou Ann Borden, treasurer.

Ohio Perspective

Educational TV blankets state

By KEN DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For the first time educational television can beam lessons into any schoolroom in Ohio.

The final transmitter completing the TV blanket over the state was completed at Cambridge during the summer and went into operation this month.

Already, half of all of Ohio's elementary and secondary public school children — 1.2 million of 2.4 million — are under contract for TV lessons.

"Virtually all schools in Ohio, if they choose, may receive instructional television," said Martin W. Essex, state public instruction superintendent.

All schools can so receive, said Robert Bowers, assistant state superintendent of instruction, but some areas would have weak signals.

The 110th General Assembly appropriated $1,212,500 in federal revenue sharing funds to correct weak spots between transmission areas of Ohio's 12 transmitters.

The state anticipates that 1.8 million Ohio school children may be given some TV instruction next school year.

Most of today's television instruction is concentrated in elementary grades with some secondary schools involved, Bowers said. Big concern now is the quality of the instructional programs available.

Ohio's interest sparked formation last May of the national Agency for Instructional Television. AIT plans meetings next week around the country to plot production of high quality instruction. Ohio officials will attend a meeting in Atlanta.

Lessons cover health, reading and social studies — enrichment programs that Bowers said supplement rather than replace classroom instruction.

A program produced for the state at Ohio State University on economics had what Bowers called fantastic success and now is in use nationally. Another OSU product on environment and a third called "Images and Things" about art are typical programs.

The state assured 960 hours of educational programming on each of the dozen stations by awarding contracts totalling $1.356 million.

School districts contract with the educational TV corporations and rates range from 25 cents to $1 per pupil. The state Department of Education augments school district contributions by 50 cents per pupil.

Top-ranked WCH eyes shutout mark

Lions meet winless Wehrle team Friday

By MIKE FLYNN

It'll be one tense Friday night after another for Washington C. H.'s Blue Lions in their merciless search for a South Central Ohio League football championship.

However, Washington C. H.'s SCOL timetable will be delayed, providing an extra week for crafty head coach Maurice Pfeifer's top-ranked Blue Lions to prepare for the three crucial league appointments on the 1973 worksheet.

THE POWERFUL Blue Lions, ranked atop The Associated Press' Class AA high school football poll for the third consecutive week, will entertain a winless Columbus Bishop Wehrle team at 8 p.m. Friday in the annual Parents Night contest at Gardner Park Stadium.

Probably the most important aspect of Friday's non-league outing will be the luster unbeaten Washington C. H. can add to its scrapbook of season accomplishments.

A new school record looms for the miserly Washington C. H. defense which has keyed the Lions' six straight wins. The Lion defense has fired six consecutive shutouts and needs only one more to shatter a 25-year-old school record for whitewashes during one season.

The Lions matched a record turned in by the 1948 Washington C. H. team with 44-0 blanking of Wilmington a week ago and now have strung together a remarkable string of 29 scoreless quarters over a two-year span. The shutout win over Wilmington surpassed a performance by the legendary 1952 Washington C. H. team which blanked five opponents.

While the brawny defenders have sparked Washington C. H. to the perfect record, the ball-controlling Lion offense has been an awesome weapon, stacking up a total of 220 points in the six games for an average of 36.7 a game. Senior tailback Chuck Wilson, a bonafide All-Ohio candidate, has picked up 781 yards and 102 points thus far and is a runaway leader in the SCOL scoring race.

Lions grab healthy margin in UPI poll

Head coach Maurice Pfeifer's unbeaten Blue Lions hold a 159-117 lead over second-place Cincinnati Reading in the UPI ratings. Akron St. Vincent - St. Mary is third, followed by Oberlin Firelands, Minerva, Ironton, Columbus Watterson, Dayton Jefferson, Urbana and Toronto.

KEVIN TERRY, the Lions' speedy wide receiver, is a doubtful starter for Friday's game in which Washington C. H. will be looking for its fourth win in a row over non-league teams this year. Terry has been sidelined with a throat infection and Pfeifer plans to employ sophomore Dewey Foster with Larry Howell at the flanker spot if Terry's not ready. Defensively, senior speedster Jeff Willis will be replacing Terry in the secondary.

Senior Jeff Tuvell, who suffered a shoulder separation in the Portsmouth game, will return for Friday's contest and will alternate with sophomore Tim O'Flynn at the defensive end position. Pfeifer said sophomore quarterback Tom Adnerson is still shelved with a back injury.

Although Columbus Wehrle will bring an 0-5-1 record into Friday's game, the Wolverines have shown some signs of improving. The Wolves and Columbus Hartley struggled to a 14-14 tie a week ago. Wehrle has lost to Hamilton Township, Columbus South, Dayton Kiser, Benjamin Logan and Columbus Ready. Wehrle is 0-1-1 inside the Central Catholic League race with dates against Columbus Watterson and Columbus DeSales following this week's game with the Lions.

The Wolves have a wave of speed that delights second-year head coach Bill Wood, who looks to be passing more this year. Wehrle, according to Pfeifer's scouting chart, will offer a variety of offensive formations including one in which the quarterback is the only player in the backfield.

John Iacoboni, a 170-pound senior, is Wehrle's tailback after beginning the season at the quarterback spot. The fullback will be Mark Gebhardt, a 175-pound junior. Bob Kazlausky, a 165-pound senior, will be the split end Dan Plank is the tight end.

Iacoboni, Surgio, Bates and Plank form the defensive front wall along with middle guard Tom Hanf, a 5-11, 178-pound senior. Tom Gerhardt, a 170-pound senior, and Reis are the linebackers. Gerhardt and Reis are the team's co-captains. The cornerbacks are Alan Talib, a 130-pound sophomore, and Rob Hatem with Tom Schweiterman and Plank in the secondary.

The Wolves will employ both 5-2 and 6-2 formations of defense. Pfeifer said they will also stunt and blitz the linebackers and display a zone pass defense.

Staub sparks Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Something finally has taken the play away from the Oakland A's internal battles—Rusty Staub's bat.

The A's, who have grabbed most of the headlines lately with juicy stories of clubhouse unrest, at last took a back seat in the World Series to the New York Mets Wednesday night.

Providing some news of his own, Staub dismissed a painful right shoulder and knocked in five runs to help the Mets beat the A's 6-1 and square the best-of-seven series at two games apiece.

"I did a lot of work during batting practice and did several things to adjust for my sore shoulder," said Staub after hitting a three-run homer and two-run single.

He wouldn't say, but whatever it was that Staub did, it worked wonders.

"Under the circumstances, my performance was unbelievely satisfying," said Staub, who also had two hits and a walk in a 4-for-4 night. "When you've been playing in the big leagues for about 11 years and always wanted to play in a World Series, well, this is a great, great feeling."

Staub's shoulder has been a daily topic since last week, when he hurt it while making a stunning catch in the National League playoffs against the Cincinnati Reds.

He still can't throw well—but, obviously, he can hit. Even if it is to the opposite field.

"I hit a fastball," he said about the clout over the leftcenter field fence at Shea Stadium off Ken Holtzman in the first inning. "I hit the ball perfectly so that it could carry that way. I knew the wind was gusting out there.

"I thought, though, that it would fall between the fielders. I was kind of surprised when it went over the fence. I was running as hard as I could because I wasn't sure it was out. It was the first ball I've hit out since the shoulder injury—and obviously, the wind helped."

The blast was the beginning of the end for Holtzman, the A's winner in the opening game of the World Series last Saturday. After the 20-game-winning left-hander walked John Milner and gave up a single to Jerry Grote, he took a shower.

Staub's two-run single highlighted a three-run fourth inning that was mere icing for young Jon Matlack's first World Series victory.

The power-throwing left-hander limited the A's to merely one unearned run and three hits before leaving with a stiff shoulder after eight innings.

"I learned a little about the A's in the first game and used it to my advantage tonight," said Matlack, the losing pitcher in game No. 1.

Matlack considered Wednesday night's assignment more important than the opener last Saturday in Oakland "because we were down two games to one Wednesday night and would have been just about out of it with a loss."

He encountered rough going in only one inning—the fourth, when the A's scored their only run with the help of a New York error.

After Joe Rudi struck out, Sal Bando reached first on Wayne Garrett's boot and went to third on a single by Reggie Jackson. Then Bando came home as Gene Tenace bounced out to short.

Matlack, last year's Rookie of the Year in the National League, couldn't finish, though. His arm stiffened and he had to watch the ninth inning from the bench.

"My shoulder was really tight out there," said Matlack. "It impaired my throwing. It took something off my fastball because I couldn't come around over the top-I had to throw three-quarter arm."

Ray Sadecki pitched the ninth, but gave New York Manager Yogi Berra some anxious moments before nailing it down. He loaded the bases with two out before striking out Bert Campaneris as most of the paid 54,817 fans roared their approval.

One of the few who wasn't roaring was sitting near the Oakland dugout—A's owner Charles O. Finley. For a change, he wasn't the center of attention.

Finley had started a cause celebre earlier in this Series by "firing" Mike Andrews for making two costly errors in Sunday's 10-7 loss to the Mets in Oakland.

Although Andrews was back in uniform Wednesday night after Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn ordered him reinstated, the A's were still smoldering with unrest. Oakland Manager Dick Williams was so fed up with the situation that he reportedly decided to quit his job after this World Series.

Andrews made his first appearance since Sunday, in a pinch-hitting role, and grounded out in the eighth inning. He received a standing ovation from the sympathtic fans when he stepped to the plate and a hefty reaction after he went out.

"It was great—just great," Andrews said about the crowd's hurrahs. "I don't think I've every had cheers like that before. I should have acknowledged it, I guess, but I had only thought when I went up to bat and that was to get a hit."

Computerized prep grid poll released

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green, Akron Garfield, Lima Catholic and Ashtabula St. John are new faces this week atop the Ohio High School Athletic Association's computerized football ratings.

Bowling Green and Akron Garfield took over regional leads in Class AAA, Lima Catholic moved to the front in a Class AA region and Ashtabula St. John is a new pacesetter in Class A.

The ratings are compiled by a Columbus firm and are based on the strength of a team's schedule and those of its opponents. Margins of victory are not considered.

The regional leaders automatically qualify for the state playoff semifinals after the regular season is completed.

Keeping their leads again were Warren Western Reserve and Fairborn Baker in Class AAA, Elyria Catholic, New Lexington and Cincinnati Reading in Class AA and Gibsonburg, Coal Grove Dawson-Bryant and Middletown Fenwick in Class A.

'Cradle of Coaches' Miami adds Bill Mallory to list

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Add another name to Miami of Ohio's endless list as the nation's "Cradle of Coaches": Bill Mallory.

The 38-year-old coach of "the other Miami" is the latest product this school of 13,000 has become famed for: successful coaches.

Mallory, who has directed the Redskins to four consecutive 7-3 seasons, has the Mid-American Conference club off to one of its fastest starts in history.

Miami is unbeaten in five games and nationally ranked in the The Associated Press poll even though it is one of the smallest major colleges among the Top 20. Miami has gained notice at the expense of two big schools—Purdue and South Carolina.

Mallory has made believes— not an easy challenge considering the continuous act he's had to follow.

He succeeded Glen Schembechler, who left Miami in 1969 to direct the University of Michigan to two Big 10 titles, a pair of Rose Bowl appearances and a 43-6 record.

Before Schembechler it was John Pont, who won 43 of 65 games in seven years at Miami and went on to take sophomore dominated Indianaato the Rose Bowl in 1967.

Secretariat sets final appearance

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretariat will end his racing career in Canada just like Man O'War did more than 50 years ago.

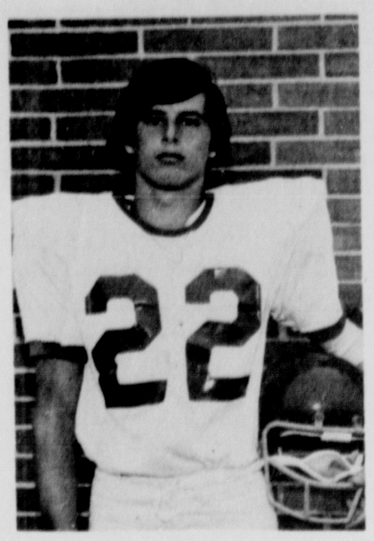

Secretariat, known to his fans as "Super Red," will make his farewell appearance Oct. 28 in the Canadian Championship at Woodbine in Toronto, trainer Lucien Laurin said Wednesday.

Terms of a record $6.08 million syndication, call for Secretariat to retire from racing no later than Nov. 15 and go to stud.

GARTH COX

MARK JOHNSON

WCH Players of Week

Two seniors have been selected as Washington C. H.'s Players of the Week for their performances in the Blue Lions' 44-0 win over Wilmington in the annual homecoming game last Friday night.

Garth Cox was named the top defensive player and Mark Johnson landed offensive accolades in The Record-Herald's sixth weekly feature.

Cox, a 6-foot-5, 226-pounder, figured in on 11 tackles and received a perfect 100 per cent execution rating after the Washington C. H. coaching staff had graded Friday's game films.

THE SENIOR defensive tackle, who doubles as an offensive guard, was one of the key defenders in the Blue Lions' record-matching sixth straight shutout. The stingy Lion defense has now stacked up 29 straight scoreless quarters over a two-season span.

Johnson, a quick senior halfback, gained 34 yards in five rushes and grabbed four passes from senior quarterback Alan Coppock for 68 yards. The 5-foot-7, 154-pound team captain was on the receiving end of a 19-yard scoring strike from Coppock. Johnson and Coppock also combined for one set of extra points.

Head coach Maurice Pfeifer also singled out the defensive performances of Chuck Wilson, Steve Mosley and Duke Willis. Wilson intercepted a pass, recovered a fumble and blocked a Wilmington field goal attempt.

Offensively, Pfeifer praised the efforts of the entire offensive line, Coppock and Wilson. Coppock completed six of 10 passes for 54 yards, while Wilson gained 182 yards in 23 carries and scored a total of four touchdowns.

The Lions, 6-0 on the season, will entertain Columbus Wehrle in the annual Parents Night game Friday at Gardner Park Stadium.

Browns seek to revive offense

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns hope to move their sputtering offense into high gear Sunday against the winless Houston Oilers, but the hand on the shift lever is attached to the arm of quarterback Mike Phipps.

The Cleveland team's lack of offense was blamed for their 17-9 loss Monday night to the Miami Dolphins. All of the Browns' points came on Don Cockroft field goals.

Phipps' passing has been less than sparkling in the early season, and the Browns' passing attack is No. 11 in the American Football Conference so far. Only Baltimore and Buffalo, which so far hasn't needed to pass, rank behind Cleveland.

But the sturdy, former Purdue University star demonstrated his passing ability last year, his first as a starter for the Browns. And Coach Nick Skorich says he is confident things will change.

"There is no reason that our passing shouldn't be much better," Skorich said.

"We had a special meeting of the quarterbacks, receivers and running backs," he said. "I took charge of that one myself, and we went over Monday night's game.

Lions vault in computer

COLUMBUS — Washington C. H.'s Blue Lions, the top-ranked Class AA in both state wire service polls, vaulted this week in the Ohio High School Athletic Association's computerized rating system.

The Lions, tied for 20th with Versailles a week ago, now hold the 14th spot in Class AA Region 8. The Lions have 61 points, while Cincinnati Reading, the poll leader, has 183.20.

Browns linebacker Billy Andrews out

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Browns linebacker Billy Andrews is out of action indefnitely with a herniated disc, a team spokesman says.

Andrews, who has seen a fair amount of action despite back problems of a few months' duration, will undergo further tests, the spokesman said Wednesday.

Longshots winners at Lebanon Raceway

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — It was a night for longshots Wednesday at Lebanon Raceway.

The harness action opened with the daily double paying $693.40 on the 5-7 combination of R Redtime and Darn Worthy.

Don McCune leads in bowling prizes

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Don McCune and Barry Asher remain well out in front in the Professional Bowlers Association money ranks, but four others are bunched within about $1,500 of each other well below the top pair.

McCune, of Munster, Ind., finished second in the Regional Champions Classic at Clearwater, Fla., earlier this week, but it was good enough to keep him on top of the money ladder with a total of $65,255. Asher, of Costa Mesa, Calif., had $52,686.

How to Clean the Eardrum

Can an eardrum be injured by using a cotton swab on a stick?

How else can the ear be cleaned?

Miss F.L., Iowa

Dear Miss L.:

The cotton tip applicator is the gentlest of the instruments popularly used to clean the ears and to remove wax.

Certainly, these are a lot safer than the paper clips, bobby pins, ball point pens, hairpins, and the long sharp fingernails that are so energetically used by so many people.

Cotton-tip applicators, which seem to be so gentle, may also be injurious if carelessly handled. The cotton is so tightly bound that it can injure the wall of the ear canal.

For this reason it is advisable that the cotton on these applicators be carefully fluffed and made softer before applying.

Fortunately, the ear canal has its own anatomical defense. Its curved structure almost always prevents the eardrum inself from being injured.

Did you know that wax serves a definite function? It lubricates the outer ear and protects the canal from invasions by dust, dirt and other particles. Many people go through life without ever having wax removed by the doctor. Others find that wax can accumulate and become so hardened that it puts pressure on the canal and, occasionally, on the eardrum.

Those with this tendency should have the wax safely removed at regular intervals by their doctors.

When I drink even the slightest amount of brandy my heart begins to palpitate, and I feel as if I'm going to faint.

Could this be psychological?

Mr. D.B., N.Y.

Dear Mr. B.:

For some reason, many people want to ascribe a psychological reason for everything they don't understand.

I doubt that this is the answer to your problem, especially since you have so clearly identified palpitations and brandy.

Brandy can be a stimulant that will cause a sudden episode of rapit heart beats in some people.

Tobacco can do the same thing. The combination of tobacco and brandy is known to be able to set off an attack of paroxysmal tachycardia, or a sudden temporary spell of quickening of the heart beat.

Since you have learned that there is a causal relationship I am sure you will find that by avoiding brandy you will also avoid the unpleasant, and sometimes terrifying, fluttering sensation you describe.

Our child has "infatile eczema." Her skin is red and irritated. Could she eventually outgrow this?

Mrs. E.E., Wis.

Dear Mrs. E.:

The word "eczema" is derived from the Greek, meaning "to boil."

The red, angry appearance of the skin typifies infantile eczema. Since it is considered an allergic reaction, efforts must be made to track down the offender.

When this is found, and with proper drugs and lubricants, the chances are great for complete recovery.

Fr. Connelly named Yule parade marshal

The Rev. Father Richard J. Connelly, pastor of St. Colman's Catholic Church in Washington C.H., chaplain of the Cincinnati Bengals, and a nationally-known speaker, will serve as grand marshal for the 1973 Christmas parade here, according to chairman Eddie Fisher.

The parade will be held beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 1.

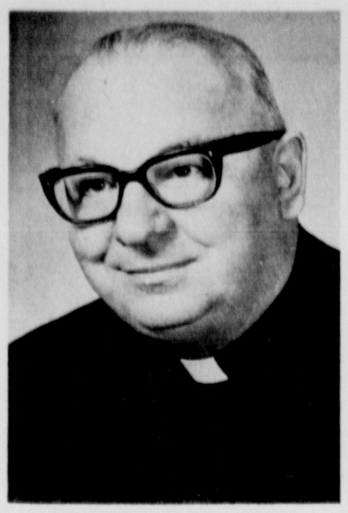

Other parade commitments to date include the Great Lakes Naval Band, the Banana Splits from Kings Island and the Borden Burger Christmas float from Columbus.

Fisher said that Frank Giacomini, president of the Washington C.H. Jaycees, and members of that organization are visiting the Circleville Pumpkin Show this week to obtain pictures and information on commercial floats that local businesses will be asked to sponsor in this year's event.

Washington Senior High School band director Charles L. Shaffer is in charge of the high school bands which will be entering the parade . The event promises to have in the vicinity of 15 top area high school units.

Several other facets of the parade are now taking shape according to Fisher, including princess and queen judging, the parade route lineup, installation of decorations and collection finances to support the event.

The 1973 parade theme is "A Christmas Carol", and the committee is in hopes that several local groups and organizations will enter floats adhering to the chosen theme. More details on entry information will be released in the coming week, Fisher said.

Democrat groups planning dinner

Tentative plans for a Democratic dinner to be held during February were discussed Wednesday night at a joint meeting of the Fayette County Democrat Club and the Fayette County Democratic Executive Committee at the Terrace Lounge.

Joseph Murphy, president of the county Democrat club, said plans for the dinner will be announced at a later date.

Raymond Burchfield agreed to coordinate John Glenn's campaign for the U.S. Senate in Fayette County and Milbourne Barney announced that a testimonial dinner will be held Dec. 14 for State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey will be the speaker at the $25-a-plate dinner in Columbus.

WINS NEW AUTO

Pam Dailey, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, a sales manager with Fashion Two Twenty cosmetics, has won an air-conditioned Chevrolet Impala as a sales leader with the cosmetics firm.

She recently received an all expense paid trip to pick up her new car at the Fashion Two Twenty home office in Aurora.

B'burg PTO backs MTHS bond issue

BLOOMINGBURG — The Bloomingburg Parent-Teacher Organization has endorsed the $2,036,000 bond issue for a new Miami Trace junior high school and maintenance of the present elementary buildings which will come to a vote at the Nov. 6 election. A contribution of $25 for the campaign was approved at a meeting Wednesday night.

The action was taken after Dr. Donald E. Mossbarger, Assistant Superintendent Steve Yambor and Dwight Duff pointed out that the "weakest link in the Miami Trace education system is the junior high school area; overcrowded conditions in the elementary schools inhibits the elementary program and property owners have been given tax relief through rollbacks, personal property tax phaseouts and the homestead exemption."

Since this was the first meeting of the new school year, President Walter Smithson introduced the ways and means committee members, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Moore, chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Cartwright, Mr. and Mrs. James Mace, Mr. and Mrs. Art Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Dean and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Von Bargen. The committee presented tentative plans for a spring carnival and two skating parties. Dates were not set.

Ronald Gottendick, the new principal, introduced the teachers.

Mrs. Robert Stayrook urged support of the .02 of a mill public health levy, saying "it is important for the well being of the entire county," and Marion Stockwell was presented as a write-in candidate for the county school board.

Refreshments were served in Halloween-bedecked classrooms by Mrs. Ferol Lewis, Mrs. Thomas Luster, Mrs. Ronald Meredith and Mrs. Eddy McCoy.

Columbus TV personnel strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fourteen on-the-air employes of Columbus television station WTVN went on strike Wednesday in a contract dispute with the Taft Broadcasting Co.

Spokesmen for the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists said the company has refused to negotiate a number of contract issues. They said the issues included wages, improved fringe benefits and better working conditions.

The union members said they had been working without a contract since Sept. 17.

Company officials were not available for comment.

Suspect arson

KSU Security Director Robert Malone said police were checking to see if the fire, in one of the dormitory's recreation rooms, was related to an Oct. 8 wastebasket fire in a nearby room.

Bottle damage

A beer bottle was thrown through a window of the Dunn Bait and Sporting Goods store in Waterloo at 2:45 a.m. Wednesday, the sheriff's department was told.

The incident was reported by Vanett Dunn, who was awakened by the noise. The Dunns live behind their store.

Boy struck by auto

A 9-year-old boy was injured by an automobile on Delaware Street at 11:56 a.m. Wednesday.

Stanley G. Seymour, 705 Campbell St. was struck by a car driven by Beverly A. Smith, 31, of 220 Walnut St. when he ran in front of her vehicle.

The boy received an abrasion of the right side of his chest and contusions from contact with the pavement. He was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released.

No citation was issued.

AN ACCIDENT at the junction of the west access of U.S. 35 and the CCC Highway sent another person to the hospital Wednesday, at 1:50 p.m.

Elmer G. Looney, 59, Stafford Rd., pulled onto the CCC into the path of Joan M. Browder, 46, Wilmington.

The latter was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released.

Damage was moderate to both cars, and Looney was charged with failure to yield right of way.

A CAR cutting too wide a swing while turning, resulted in an accident Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

Damage to the cars was slight.

CAC schedules annual meeting

A list of priorities and a budget for the year beginning March 1, 1974, will be taken up at the annual meeting of the Fayette County Community Action Commission next Wednesday in Grace United Methodist Church, the Rev. Ralph Wolford, pastor of the First Baptist Church and chairman of the commission, said.

A progress report on the various programs under CAC supervision will be made, along with a general discussion of plans for the future.

Man injured in fall

JEFFERSONVILLE—A man walking through an alley in Jeffersonville, tripped and fell, striking his mouth on a curb at 9:33 p.m. Wednesday. Phillip Null, 19, of Jamestown was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital where 10 stitches were required to close his wounds. He was then released.

An analysis

Decision point near in war?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 13-day-old Arab-Israeli war may be approaching its decisive point in the great tank battle churning the sands of the Sinai Desert near the Suez Canal.

That is the judgment of Pentagon analysts studying reports from U.S. military attaches and U.S. diplomatic representatives in Israel and Egypt

"In the next day or so, we should be able to tell if this is the decisive battle," said one official who obviously hopes for an early end to the fighting on both the Egyptian and Syrian fronts.

U.S. military authorities said the Israelis had the initiative in developing the Sinai battle.

A key question in the minds of U.S. officials is whether the Israelis and Egyptians will choose to fight until one side is clearly defeated, or whether they would accept a settlement allowing both to claim a measure of victory.

As these officials view the overall situation, Israeli gains in Syria and the course of the fighting in the Sinai so far have produced the makings of a possible long-term settlement, "if reason prevails."

Although the Syrian army still is in action, the Israelis have hurt it badly and have advanced well beyond the 1967 cease-fire line they held before fighting broke out Oct. 6.

"The Israelis may have an acceptable situation there," said a Pentagon strategist. "They have the basis to negotiate a pullback to the ceasefire line in return for security assurances."

By implication, the Syrians are in such a poor situation militarily that they would have to accept the best deal they could get.

On the other front, U.S. officials say that both Egypt and Israel might be able to claim victory if the Egyptians kept even a narrow foothold on the Sinai bank of the Suez Canal.

According to this scenario the Egyptians could say they had won back part of the Sinai and perhaps could reopen the Suez Canal, while the Israelis could say they had held Egypt to territorial gains and they might be able to press for access to the canal for shipping.

Although the United States is replacing Israel's battle losses in planes, tanks and other equipment, defense authorities acknowledge they are uncertain of Israel's war aims.

However, they say there are signs that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat may have had only limited objectives in sending his army across the canal in an attack coordinated with that of the Syrians.

The continued withholding of a significant part of the Egyptian air force from the battle is viewed as one such possible sign.

Another significant indicator is the reported construction by Egyptian forces of a line of fortifications in the strip of Sinai land they have taken from Israel, defense sources said.

U.S. intelligence specialists say this suggests that Egypt hopes to consolidate its foothold on the East bank of the Suez Canal rather than to try to retake more of the Sinai, which was lost to Israel more than six years ago.

Some U.S. military men feel the Egyptians could be inviting disaster if they went to a static defense.

Israel's strategy has been to concentrate on neutralizing Syrai's army and air force before throwing its main strength at the Egyptians.

When the war opened, about 75 per cent of Israel's air force and much of its armor and artillery were hurled at the Syrians, who had scored early breakthroughs threatening Israeli settlements. The Egyptians were about 150 miles away across the Sinai desert from Israel proper and the Israeli command chose a holding strategy against them for the time being.

Some U.S. military men believe the Israelis would have been in deep trouble if the Egyptians had followed up their surprise crossing of the canal with a sustained a offensive. This would have forced Israel to defend against all-out attacks on two fronts simultaneously.

But the Egyptians in effect pulled up after penetrating only a relatively few miles into the Sinai. Most of their line still reaches only from three to six miles east of the canal.

Meanwhile, the Israelis have driven beyond their 1967 ceasefire line onithe Golan Heights and within about 16 miles of Damascus, the Syrian capital.

The war already has lasted more than twice as long as the six days it took Israel to defeat the Egyptians, Syrians and Jordaniens in 1967. This time, the Jordanians have avoided opening a third front along their border with Israel and are fighting only in Syria.

Egyptian losses heavy, Israelis say

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel claimed it destroyed 90 to 100 Egyptian tanks Wednesday in a fierce battle that continued into the night along the Suez Canal. Egypt said the Israelis "suffered heavy losses in tanks and armored cars."

The Israeli drive into Syria still was bogged down about 21 miles from Damascus. The Syrian front was reported quiet through the night after heavy Syrian shelling Wednesday.

Elsewhere in the Middle East crisis, the Arab oil countries pledged to cut their production 5 per cent a month to increase the cut by 5 per cent each month as long as Israel holds on to the territory it seized in the 1967 war. They hope their West European and Japanese customers will pressure the United States into ending arms shipments to Israel.

There was intense diplomatic activity in Washington and at United Nations headquarters in New York aimed at ending the fighting. But there was no apparent sign of progress.

Israel said its forces fought all day Wednesday in Sinai to "contain Egyptian counterattacks." Maj. Gen. Haim Herzog, the state radio's military commentator, said it was the "biggest armored clash in Israeli military history."

Chief of Staff David Elazar declared, "We are now calling the tune." But he added: "This is not Israel's major offensive."

The Egyptian command said fighting was continuing Wednesday night in the central sector of the Sinai front, but neither side reported any change in the battle lines two and a half to 10 miles east of the Suez Canal.

It was the second day on which the Israelis had claimed destruction of a large Arab tank force. On Tuesday they reported knocking out 105 Syrian and Iraqi tanks, while Syria that day claimed its forces destroyed 80 Israeli tanks.

Elazar said Israeli forces were "initiating the attacks on both sides" of the canal. An Israeli spokesman said the commando task force that crossed the canal Tuesday was still in Egypt, continuing to sabotage missiles and artillery. But an Egyptian general said the force had been destroyed.

Israel said its air force bombed military installations near Port Said, the Egyptian city at the northern end of the canal, and antiaircraft missile batteries. It said 10 Egyptian planes were shot down. Egypt claimed that its air force shot down four Israeli planes in one dogfight while ground fire downed 12 Israeli planes and five helicopters. It admitted the loss of one plane.

An AP correspondent on the Syrian front said Arab artillery was continuing to blast away at Israeli columns

Oil cutbacks by Arabs studied

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The proclaimed cutback in Arab oil production should have little immediate effect on U.S. supplies, an American energy expert says. But Western Europe and Japan, the Arabs' biggest customers, are expected to put pressure on the United States before long to reduce its support of Israel.

Arab oil ministers at a meeting in Kuwait Wednesday announced they would cut production at least 5 per cent a month until Israel gives up all territory it seized in the 1967 war and restores the rights of the Palestinian refugees.

Because the United States gets only about 6 per cent of the oil it uses from the Arab countries, the Arabs strategy was to squeeze the Europeans and Japanese in the hope that they in turn would put the screws on Washington, Israel's chief source of arms.

A 5 per cent cut in U. S. imports from the Arab countries would reduce the total supply in the United States only three-tenths of one per cent, the U.S. expert said in Washington. But he estimated the action would reduce Western Europe's supplies by 3 per cent and Japan's by 2 per cent.

The Nixon Administration is counting on imports of refined heating oil from Europe to meet the shortage expected this winter, and a reduced supply of crude to Europe would make refined products harder to get.

Since production is being cut back rather than exports, the effects of the decision may not be felt for several weeks. And the volume of production will decline very slowly if the reductions continue, since each month's cut will be 5 per cent of the previous month's production. But oil experts in Beirut predicted a major world oil crisis if the cuts continued for as long as four months.

One London oil analyst called the cutback "an extremely astute scheme.... It will make everyone suffer a little and put considerable pressure on Western countries to force Israel to come to an agreement with the Arabs."

Arab gunmen hold hostages

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Five Arab gunmen raided the Bank of America here today, seized between 20 and 30 hostages and reportedly demanded the release of all Palestinian guerrillas imprisoned in Lebanon.

Grenade explosions and machine gun fire resounded in the heart of Beirut's business district as police and army troops encircled the bank building. Pedestrians dived for cover.

After a two-hour gun battle in which one of the five gunmen, three policemen and five passing civilians were wounded, the gunmen agreed to negotiate with Algerian Ambassador Mohammed Yazid and a Palestinian guerrilla leader identified as Tewfif Safadi.

Lebanese Interior Minister Bahij Takieddin and several police chiefs were on the scene.

Yazid and Safadi reported that the gunmen were holding between 20 and 30 bank employes, but had agreed to release women employes and customers in the bank.

The gunmen were quoted as saying it was "not a bank robbery but an operation against American interests, with the twin purpose of securing the release of our comrades in Lebanese jails."

The gunmen also demanded safe conduct out of Lebanon and a plane to fly them to Algeria. Negotiations were continuing.

WCTU MARCHES AGAIN — History repeated itself in Hillsboro Wednesday as the Women's Christian Temperance Union marched along the city streets and past open bars. This re-enacted the scene of 100 years ago when 70 women marched to launch the famous saloon-closing crusade in 1873. Dressed in clothes of that earlier era, present-day WCTU members paraded through the streets with banners and signs. The parade launched a three-day WCTU meeting in Hillsboro. Woman sought with LSD-laced orange juice

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Eighteen persons in four cities fell ill after sampling orange juice offered by a woman who said she was doing a market survey. Police say the juice may have been spiked with hallucinogenic drugs.

All the victims were approached by the woman in central Florida shopping centers.

Ten persons were treated at a Lakeland hospital on Wednesday night and eight were admitted, two in poor condition. In St. Petersburg, three shoe store employes were treated for hallucinations and released.

Three persons in Orlando and two in Daytona Beach were listed as satisfactory after being admitted on Tuesday.

Many complained of hallucinations and all said they felt drunk with no sense of coordination, officers say.

The victims told Lakeland police they were shopping when approached by an attractive woman in her late 20s who said she was conducting market research and asked them to sample two kinds of orange juice.

"So far as we know everybody who drank the stuff has gotten sick," said Lakeland detective D. E. Peterson. "It seems to have been some hallucinogenic drug such as LSD."

In St. Petersburg, police said the woman first went to a jewelry store, but employes said they were too busy and she then went to a shoe store, where three workers drank the juice and became sick.

In Daytona Beach and Orlando, police said it was apparently the same woman who asked employes in jewelry stores to sample two brands of orange juice.

Three workers in the Orlando store and two in the Daytona Beach store were knocked unconscious by the drinks, which police said they believed contained a strong tranquilizer and hallucinogenic mixture.

"I began stumbling around and the next thing I knew I was waking up in the hospital at 3 a.m.," said Ralph Wecht, manager of Gordon's Jewelers in Orlando.

Police said the woman was described as a 5-foot-6 brunette who wore sunglasses and a wide floppy hat.

She claimed to be working for the International Survey Co. of San Francisco, which she said was conducting tests on a new brand of orange juice.

Nixon winner in tapes fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon had his first favorable decision today in his legal battle to withhold the White House tapes from the Senate Watergate committee and the special Watergate prosecutor.

U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica threw out Wednesday the Senate committee's request for a civil judgment affirming its right to demand the tapes from the President.

In his ruling, Sirica said the committee had failed to obtain authorization for suing the President. He said he was not making any judgment on the legal merits of the committee's case.

A committee spokesman said the decision probably would be appealed.

But Nixon still faces the formidable challenge of special prosecutor Archibald Cox's effort to obtain nine presidential tapes for the federal grand jury investigation of the Watergate break-in and cover-up.

In that case, Sirica ordered the President to give him the nine tapes Cox had subpoenaed. The judge said that only if he listened to the tapes could he determine if the President had a valid claim for keeping them secret.

Last Friday, the U.S. Court of Appeals upheld Sirica's ruling.

The President has until Friday to take his appeal to the Supreme Court, a move he is regarded as virtually certain to make.

The committee subpoenaed five tapes last July 23, the same day Cox subpoenaed nine. Three days later the President notified both parties that he would not comply with their subpoenas.

The President has contended that because the three branches of government are coequal and independent under the Constitution, neither a congressional committee nor a judge could force him to obey an order.

FBI drew blank, Ford claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford says the FBI probe for congressional confirmation hearings has uncovered no potentially embarrassing incidents in his past as far as he could tell from agents' questioning.

The FBI agents interviewed the House Republican leader in his office late Wednesday for an investigation ordered by confirmation committees in both the House and Senate.

Ford said he expects Congress to make an intensive investigation into his past—and said it will get his cooperation—because his is "a precedent-setting circumstance."

Ford, the first person to come under the 25th Amendment's new procedure for replacing a vice president, commented in an interview with The Associated Press.

"I believe that under the circumstances the person selected in this situation as in any other has to have his life exposed in a factual way to the maximum degree."

Ford also said he expects President Nixon to veto at least three more bills before he can be confirmed and begin work on his goal of trying to achieve compromises with Congress to avoid veto confrontations.

He said he agrees with Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield that a Republican vice president working closely with congressional Democrats to reach such compromises will be "a delicate operation."

"But that doesn't mean men of good will can't work together and achieve reasonably common goals," he said.

Here is part of the interview:

Q. People outside politics may have trouble understanding your acknowledgement that you helped G. Gordon Liddy get a job in government so he wouldn't run against a New York congressman. Do you think acknowledgements like that hurt you?

A. Every member of Congress from time to time—virtually every person in public life—is asked to endorse the candidacy of somebody for a job.

And in this case I did not initiate the job candidacy of Mr. Liddy. I was asked by the local public officials, the local party official in Duchess County, N.Y., to make a phone call on behalf of Mr. Liddy, which I did in April 1969.

The initial recommendation for the job was made through his own congressman and through the party officials.

Q. The Senate Rules Committee has asked not only for your income tax returns but for an audit of them. Is that all right with you?

A. Yes.

Q. The Senate committee also has asked your permission to obtain all the medical records, physical and even mental if there are such records. Does that bother you?

A. Not at all. I have told the attending physician at the Capitol to make any and all records available and to the best of my recollection I will give them the names of all doctors who have treated me in any way whatsoever.

I will also instruct those doctors to make any files concerning me available.

Ford bridge to Congress worthless?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford hopes to make his vice presidency a bridge between Congress and the White House, but history puts long odds against him.

That is a mission vice presidents have attempted before, usually without success.

Ford, the House Republican leader, is a man of Congress. House and Senate applauded his vice presidential nomination and signaled virtually certain confirmation.

He will take with him the friendships and knowledge gained in 25 years on Capitol Hill. His would seem to be ideal credentials for an administration lobbyist.

But other men with similar backgrounds have found it doesn't work that way. Even the late Lyndon B. Johnson, master of the Senate when he was leader of its Democratic majority, found himself without congressional clout as vice president.

The barrier has been one of institutional loyalties. And members of the Senate and House tend to be particularly wary of intrusions on their independence by a former colleague who has joined the executive branch.

"The minute a man takes that oath and lifts his hand off the Bible, he's gone. He's part of another branch of government."

Ford has said that as vice president he hopes to forge compromises and reduce friction between the Democratic Congress and the Republican administration. He said he might try to work at the committee level, dealing directly with the chairmen of the House and Senate panels that draft legislation.

He acknowledged that would be "a delicate operation" for a vice president.

A White House official said Ford undoubtedly will be helpful in dealing with Congress, particularly in shaping proposals, planning strategy and maintaining contacts with members.

But the official said he doubted any vice president could accomplish much by lobbying in committee or on the floor of Congress.

In nominating Ford, President Nixon said he needed a vice president who could work with members of both parties in Congress "for those programs of the administration which we consider are vital in the national interest."

That is a matter of persuasion, and a Nixon aide said it will be a sensitive one. As House Republican leader, Ford has marshaled a minority to uphold Nixon vetoes and battle legislation the administration opposed.

On confirmation, he moves across the Capitol to the Senate, where vice

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Friday.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republican Sen. William Saxbe and Democratic Rep. Delbert Latta, both from Ohio, voiced concern in Washington Wednesday about U.S. involvement in the Middle East War.

Meanwhile, Dayton's two daily newspapers reported that Wright-Patterson Air Force Base was being used as a supply depot for munitions shipments to Israel.

Saxbe urged the Nixon administration to make a complete disclosure to Congress and the people of the degree of U.S. involvement.

He said he did not want Americans to be victimized by the kind of secrecy and deception that he said preceded the United States' entry in the Vietnam War.

"We just extricated ourselves from one long and debilitating war in Southeast Asia, and I think it is folly to believe that the American people will tolerate direct U.S. intervention in the Middle East conflict," he said.

"Right now we're getting a lot of unconfirmed reports of arms shipments and reserve callups," he said, "but the Defense Department will not give us the facts."

Saxbe referred to reports of armament loadings at WrightPatterson near Dayton and at Lockbourne Air Force Base outside Columbus.

He said the defense Department has denied the bases were involved in any arms shipments to Israel, but it has refused to give the Senate Armed Services Committee detailed information on U.S. arms activity.

At Dayton, the newspapers reported that unmarked El Al Israel Airlines planes were making regular flights into Wright-Patterson to pick up munitions.

The arms reportedly consist mostly of bombs and rockets shipped to the base by truck and helicopter. El Al Israel was using commercial Boeing 707 and 747s to transport the arms, the newspapers said.

Funeral directors gaining status?

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— America's funeral directors— and death—are finally gaining acceptance in today's society says an official of the National Funeral Directors Association.

Funeral directors have been forgotten in the past and society "did not open the door until it needed him," said Royal Keith, NFDA treasurer and a practicing funeral director in Yakima, Wash.

The group is holding its national convention here this week.

"There are no taboos on talking about death today," said Keith.

"It has become an exciting thing."

Howard Raether, NFDA executive director, said the public is taking more interest in the once-scorned subject of death.

He points to the widespread coverage of President John F. Kennedy's funeral as a factor in the new acceptance. Now, he says, high schools and community groups want to know more about death and the post-death process.

"Before Kennedy (was assassinated) we never told kids about death," Raether said.

"Then kids saw the assassination on television. And they televised the funeral. They saw the world literally stand still. They saw men from all walks of life and leaders acknowledge death had occurred and give testimony.

"The funeral was a vehicle which allowed kids to see there was still an order to things," he said.

Raether said the funeral of assassinated civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., "allowed time for tempers to cool.

The NFDA officials agreed the form of funerals vary. They cited jazz funerals in New Orleans, where jazz bands play mournful music during the procession to the funeral, and happy ones on the return.

Motorcycle gangs honor their dead by filing past the casket of the deceased and place badges, emblems or other symbols of respect, the NFDA officials said.

Local morticians at national meet

Three local funeral directors, Richard and Roger Kirkpatrick, of Washington C.H., and David Morrow, of Jeffersonville, attended the 92nd annual meeting of the National Funeral Directors Association in Cincinnati. The Rev. Fr. Richard J. Connelly, pastor of St. Colman's Catholic Church, addressed a meeting of association officers and directors this week.

Raoul Pinette, of Lewiston, Me., reminded that while the cost of living in the United States has gone up 41.3 per cent in the last 10 years, the cost of dying has risen only 32.1 per cent.

"Funeral costs did go up," he said, "but we (funeral directors) are proud that we have been better able to hold funeral costs down. This is contrary to what some people think, but the figures have been surveyed and are fact."

More than 5,000 funeral directors from all 50 states, Canada and Mexico attended the convention. Comedian Steve Allen and columnist Virginia Graham addressed the convention.

Search for Mideast peace centers on U.S., Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The diplomatic search for an end to the Arab-Israeli war has narrowed with the United States and the Soviet Union engaged in extensive discussions over specific ideas.

These are said to center on linking a cease-fire to an overall settlement of the 25-year-old Middle East dispute.

Although there has been some progress in the talks, U.S. officials do not believe Washington and Moscow are ready to make a proposal public.

Progress in the talks were acknowledged Wednesday by State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey.

The negotiations are being conducted primarily by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Anatoly F. Dobrynin, Soviet ambassador to the United States. Any agreement would be sent to the United Nations Security Council for ratification.

While working for an end to the fighting, the United States is facing increased pressure from the Arab nations to pull back from its support of Israel.

The Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries announced in Kuwait Wednesday they will cut production at least 5 per cent a month until Israel pulls back from territory taken in the 1967 war and restores the rights of Palestinian refugees.

State Department officials were unclear Tuesday night about what this action meant, when it would take place and exactly what was being demanded.

The announcement from Kuwait did not specifically mention the United States, but Arab diplomats indicated the oil action was aimed at forcing the United States to pressure Israel into a compromise.

The official American position as outlined by Kissinger last week is that the Nixon administration will not relent in its support of Israel in the face of a threat and will take the consequences.

A heavy cloud cover over most of Ohio last night kept temperatures generally in the 40s and low 50s, averting a possible frost.

This cloud cover was expected to move rapidly out of the state early today as a low pressure trough pushed east. Generally sunny skies were expected this afternoon, with the possibility of some showers along Lake Erie.

Temperatures today were expected to climb into the low 60s in the south, but dip again into the low 40s this evening. Highs Friday were forecast in the low 70s south and upper 60s north under sunny skies.

Mostly fair Saturday through Monday, but a chance of showers in northern counties about Monday. Highs in the 60s and low 70s. Lows from the upper 30s to mid 40s Saturday, becoming more moderate from the mid 40s and low 50s by Monday.

presidents can preside and cast tie-breaking votes.

That was Johnson's base, yet when he took over the vice presidency, he found himself rebuffed by old colleagues. Later, as President, Johnson was a persuasive promoter of domestic legislation. That was not the case during his time as vice president.

Hubert H. Humphrey, now a senator again, moved from the Senate to the vice presidency. He did his lobbying carefully and offstage, often at small, private luncheons, not on the Senate floor.

Then came Spiro T. Agnew. Early on, he tried lobbying on the Senate floor for votes on administration measures. Not only did it fail, it was counter-productive.

On a tax bill, Agnew approached former Republican Sen. Len B. Jordan of Idaho on the Senate floor to ask how he would vote.

"Mr. Vice President, don't twist my arm," Jordan said. Later, Jordan told Republican colleagues that any time he was pressured on the Senate floor by anyone representing the administration, he would vote the other way.

There were other setbacks, and Agnew gave up his overt attempts at lobbying. He seldom appeared in the Senate during his latter years in the job he resigned a week ago.

"It got so we had a hard time getting him up there to break a damn tie vote," an administration aide said.

War in Mideast

bogged down on the road to Damascus. Elazar, however, said "everything is fine" in the northern theater of war.

A Syrian communique said that "on the northern front, our armored forces and artillery foiled an enemy attack on two of our forward positions and forced the enemy to retreat."

The communique said Syrian tanks and artillery destroyed three Israeli rocket sites, four artillery batteries, at least 40 tanks and 39 other armored vehicles. The Syrians said their air defenses knocked down five Israeli planes raiding civilian targets and one helicopter. The Israelis said they downed five Syrian aircraft.

Israel reported fighting with Jordanian tanks in Syria for the first time in the war. Tel Aviv radio said Israel now is holding 832 prisoners of war from Egypt, Syria and Iraq—96 of them officers.

On the diplomatic front, President Leopold Senghor of Senegal said Premier Golda Meir had written him restating Israel's readiness, often expressed in the past six years, to withdraw from Arab territories after the conclusion of a peace treaty that gives it "secure and recognized borders." As usual Mrs. Meir did not delineate the new boundaries Israel demands, but they are known to require retention of large chunks of occupied territory, including the southeast coast of the Sinai peninsula, the Golan Heights and the Gaza Strip.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said at the United Nations that Israel "will certainly be ready for most subtantial compromises" with the Arabs after its security is assured.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said Tuesday, however, that he would be willing to sit down at a U.N. peace conference only after Israel withdraws from the occupied lands.

President Nixon met Wednesday in Washington with the foreign ministers of Saudi Arabia, Algeria, Kuwait and Morocco and said later that peace "can and will be achieved." Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin was rumored to be heading up a secret mission to Cairo.

King Hussein of Jordan, speaking Wednesday for the first time since the war began, said peace could be very close or very far away, depending on Israel's attitude.

"I believe very strongly that Israel is now in a position to make up her mind and should do so without fail," he said. He said security should be based not on occupied territories and geographical barriers but on people showing "a willingness to live together and when just solutions have been found to a problem, based on honor."

Armco sets $95 million coke complex

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Armco Steel Corp. announced today a $95 million project to concentrate its cokemaking operations here and phase out older coke ovens at Houston, Tex., and New Miami, Ohio.

An Armco spokesman said the new pollution-controlled coke-making complex should be in operation by the third quarter of 1976 and will be built adjacent to existing facilities in Middletown.

The spokesman said the company is confident it can absorb the approximately 120 Houston employes who would be affected into other Armco operations in Houston.

And the spokesman said the 150 New Miami employes affected will get first crack at jobs in the new complex.

The spokesman said Armco will continue to operate two blast furnaces at New Miami and one blast furnace at Houston.

Coke requirements for the furnaces will be provided by the new Middletown facility, he said.

He said the new complex will include two batteries of 58 coke ovens each, plus supplemental handling systems and a new byproducts plant.

He said the new facility will also help offset future energy needs by generating sizeable quantities of coke gas for use in steelmaking operations here.

He said the company wanted to emphasize that a large portion of the $95 million investment will be earmarked for environmental controls.

He said that Dravo Corp. of Pittsburgh and Firia Carl Still of Recklinghausen, West Germany, have been awarded the preliminary engineering contracts.

Balloons may spark UFO reports

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weather research balloons have prompted a new rash of reports of unidentified flying objects throughout the South and UFO-bugged authorities are bracing for more reports.

A huge balloon, 150 feet in diameter, was launched at Palestine, Tex., and authorities say it drifted over Mississippi at a constant 50,000-foot altitude. The weather service at Montgomery, Ala., also reported launching a balloon to an altitude of about 85,000 feet.

Many of the sightings occurred after the sun had gone down but a spokesman at the National Weather Service in Macon, Ga., explained the sun's light would reflect off the balloon long after dusk because of the high altitude of the object.

Meanwhile, officials at Eglin Air Force Base in Florida have announced high atmospheric rocket tests today and Friday and cautioned that the rockets could easily be mistaken for UFOs.

Air Force officials said the rockets would release glowing clouds of red, green, blue and yellow gasses.

A spokesman said the colors in the sky will be visible as far south as Miami, as far west as Corpus Christi, Tex., as far north as Memphis, Tenn., and along the Eastern seaboard to Charleston, S.C.

The rockets will be launched at two-hour intervals beginning at 6:30 p.m. EDT today and continuing through Friday night.

Despite official explanations, residents in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina continued to inundate local sheriff's offices with reports of UFOs.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Policemen and broadcasters in Kentucky received a stream of reports of mysterious lights in the sky Wednesday night and some said they saw the unidentified flying objects themselves.

One of the objects, which landed in a back yard in Franklin, was discovered to be strictly terrestrial in origin.

Lexington police said they received 25 or 30 calls about UFOs, and one officer said he saw two of them, one briefly and the other for about two minutes.

He said the one he saw best was a half-circle with white and red lights that appeared over the southeastern part of the city.

Stock list holds steady

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices opened fairly steady today as the U.S. dollar strengthened in Europe and the price of gold receded:

The Dow Jones industrial average, which lost 4.89 points on Wednesday to close at 962.52, was unchanged and advances and declines were about in balance on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said the market could easily undergo another bout of profit-taking before it resumes an upward climb that sent the Dow ahead 100 points early this fall.

While the Mideast war was sidelining some investors they added, the Arab cutbacks in oil production were not expected to have an immediate impact on the United States.

One encouraging note were reports that the president of Chase Manhattan Bank is predicting a reduction in the bank prime lending rate in coming weeks.

Active issues on the Big Board today included Texaco, down ⅛ to 30⅝; Union Carbide, up ⅛ to 41½; Shell Oil, up ⅜ to 62; Union Oil of California, up ⅜ to 45⅝; and Phillips Petroleum, up ⅛ to 62⅝.

ports, hoped its neutral policy in the Arab-Israeli conflict might exempt it from the cutback. But the Japanese Ministry of International Trade and Industry acknowledged today that the Arab producers may hit it, too, in hopes that Tokyo will put pressure on the United States.

A question both in Japan and in Europe was whether Iran would follow the lead of its Arab neighbors. Iran, not an Arab nation, is the second largest Middle East producer.

The decision to cut oil production as a tactic against U.S. support of Israel was taken at a meeting of the 10 members of the Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries, or OAPEC.

After a seven-hour session, the countries issued a communique announcing that they would immediately cut production not less than 5 per cent of the September production.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman for a federal banking agency says it is "a big coincidence" that federal insurance for a savings association with connections to Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo was granted only after a new Nixon appointee took over the agency.

Federal insurance for deposits at the Key Biscayne Savings and Loan Association at Key Biscayne, Fla., was approved by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board on July 19, after having been denied in 1972 and again in March of this year.

The board originally rejected a federal charter for the same association in 1969.

Approval of the insurance was voted about six weeks after Nixon appointee Thomas R. Bomar became chairman of the board, which regulates savings and loan associations. A spokesman said the action was concurred in by the only other member of the board, Grady Perry.

The association is located in a building owned by Rebozo and two of its directors also serve as directors of a Key Biscayne commercial bank operated by Rebozo, a bank board spokesman confirmed Wednesday.

Approval of the federal insurance for the savings association followed by several months the first of two denials of a charter for a bank that would have competed with the Rebozo bank.

Rebozo strongly opposed the rival application for the bank charter, which was denied by the office of the comptroller in March of this year and again on Sept. 4.

President Nixon has a vacation home on Key Biscayne, an island of less than 10,000 population near Miami.

Asked why the insurance was approved in July after being twice denied previously a board spokesman said, "The need was not as clearly established as it was now."

Exports cutting grain stockpiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — New statistics by the Agriculture Department indicate that exports continue to be a major factor in pulling down stockpiles of wheat, livestock feed grains and soybeans during the 1973-74 season.

The big exports also point to relatively strong farm prices for those commodities at least until 1974 crops are ready.

The Outlook and Situation Board in a new appraisal of 1973 production and expected use, said Wednesday that wheat exports now appear to be larger by 50 million bushels than anticipated in September.

But the new wheat export estimate of 1.15 billion bushesl is still about 200 million less than bookings by exporters indicate. As of Sept. 28, another report showed Wednesday, exports could run more than 1.3 billion bushels and practically wipe out the wheat reserve when the new crop is ready next summer.

The board also revised downward by 50 million bushels the amount of soybeans it says will be exported in 1973-1974. The total now appears to be 550 million bushesl, the report said. Export listings point to about 640 million bushels for overseas delivery.

Corn exports were not changed from 1.125 billion bushels estimated in September, but exporters say they have orders totaling about 1.3 billion for delivery this season.

Last week USDA estimated the 1973 cotton crop at 13.1 million bales, up 200,000 from indications earlier. That improvement plus a somewhat larger stockpile at the beginning of the new season last Aug. 1, points to a little larger reserve a year from now.

But meantime, the department says cotton exports now look to be six million bales, up 100,000 from the September estimate. That is about in line with exporter bookings.

Milk fluid price hike rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council, acting on a recommendation by the Agriculture Department, has turned down a request by dairy farmers for a boost in minimum prices for fluid milk sold under federal marketing orders.

Council officials said USDA recommended that "no further action be taken this fall" on proposals for increasing the minimum price for Class I milk — sold mainly for bottling — under federal marketing orders.

The decision, announced Wednesday, means that the regular method of adjusting Class I milk minimum prices will continue to be in effect. That system is based on the average price paid for milk used in manufacturing butter, cheese and dried milk in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Under the formula, which provides a two-month lag in using the so-called "M-'w series" of prices, the minimum for November will go up about 53 cents per hundredweight of fluid milk.

The September price for M-W manufacturing milk was $6.91 per 100 pounds, up from $6.38 in August.

Prices of Class I milk vary among federal marketing orders, but the formula provides uniform increases in the minimum prices they set.

"The alternatives, proposed by dairy farmers would have set a price floor above the record levels that the federal milk order formula prices are expected to reach on Nov. 1," the council said.

"Since market prices charged by milk cooperatives are likely to be higher than the formula levels proposed, the decision to reject proposals of milk producers is not expected to have any perceptible impact on the economic factors which will dictate the level of milk production in the future," the council said.

Public hearings were held in August and September in Clayton, Mo., during which dairy producers urged that the market order minimums be increased to help offset rising production costs.

The war powers bill

The matter of curbing presidential war-making powers has at last come to a head with agreement by House and Senate conferees on legislation to this effect. Final passage by both bodies is almost certain. The question is whether, should President Nixon reject the bill as expected, the momentum of congressional concern will suffice to override the veto.

The hope for such an outcome rests on the soundly based view that the constitutional power of Congress alone to declare war must be restored. What happened in Southeast Asia, including the fiasco of the Tonkin Gulf resolution's use by President Johnson as authorization to commit U.S. forces in any way he chose, underscores the importance of this.

One dissenting member of the House conference committee, Rep. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, scored the bill as an attempt "to put the president in a strait-jacket." The language of the compromise measure does not bear this out.

It says that the president can commit U.S. forces to hostilities only pursuant to "1. A declaration of war; 2. specific statutory authorization; or, 3. a national emergency created by attack upon the United States, its territories or possessions, or its armed forces." Beyoud this, the bill provides the following: undeclared hostilities must end in 60 days-or 90 days if the president certifies in writing that the extra time is required to protect withdrawing forces-unless Congress specifies a quicker halt by concurrent resolution.

This gives the president considerable leeway, but at the same time essentially reserves to Congress the right to decide when U.S. forces shall be committed on a long-term basis.

That is what the Constitution intends.

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

'It was as if a man had died'

Hugh Newton, one of the better Washington publicists, wrote a paper some five years ago warning his friends in a conservative study group that the new Vice President-elect, Spiro Agnew, was an uncertain ideological quantity. He had been a Rockefeller "liberal."

But Spiro, displaying a real brilliance and sharpness of intellect, delighted the conservatives by making their cause his own. He had help from the White House's Pat Buchanan in crafting four basic speeches on the delinquencies of the media, but he put his own impress on everything he had to say. He stood for many things that were true. And he assembled a staff that was far more competent than Nixon's own.

The "liberals," however, have been turning themselves inside out to use Agnew's moral flaws, which have been cruelly exposed, to discredit the whole conservative position. They won't be happy until they have reversed the philosophical verdict of the 1972 election, either by forcing Richard Nixon to come over to their ideas or by getting him to follow Agnew into limbo.

IT IS ADMITTEDLY hard to come to terms with the idea that a man can speak intellectual and philosophical truth and still be a slippery fellow in money matters. Daniel Webster, the "Godlike Dan'l," served the pre-Civil War Unionist cause with eloquence, devotion, and a supreme acumen for many years in the U.S. Senate. But when a Boston bank failed to come through with an expected bundle of cash, Daniel complained that his "refresher" had been forgotten.

Robert Morris, the financier of the American Revolution, made his own personal deals in the course of raising arms for Gen. Washington. But those were different times, and neither Daniel Webster nor Robert Morris had to contend with an Internal Revenue Service. History won't deal as lightly with Spiro Agnew as it has with some of the morally flawed great ones of previous eras.

The Agnew tragedy is a far worse blow to the conservative cause than anything connected with Watergate. To this date not a genuinely conservative White House operative or spokesman has been tarred with the scandals connected with the break-ins and attempted thefts of the "plumbers."

To my sorrow, I recall the delight of writing a column calling attention to the fact that Vice President Agnew had kept himself totally clear of the Watergate mess. The column spoke the truth, and I am not ashamed of it. Nor am I ashamed for perceiving, quite early, that Agnew had made himself a most effective "tribune of the people." He did just that for a brief brillaint period.

THE INEFFABLE TRAGEDY is that a most able intellect has been lost to the country simply because its possessor couldn't resist the temptation to take a little easy money. It is no excuse to say, in Agnew's behalf, that "everybody" takes payola of some sort or another. This doesn't happen to be true.

Agnew deserved what he got, and maybe a little bit more, even though conservatism has lost a most effective spokesman in the debacle.

Realization of what has happened explains the hushed quality of the reaction in conservative circles to the Agnew resignation. It was as if a man had died.

It does not follow at all that the Agnew tragedy proves the case for the chortling liberals. The election of 1972 was not a vote for personalities. It was a philosophical repudiation of the idea that Big Government, financed by every-recurring and ever-mounting deficits, can solve our social problems.

Liberal panaceas are just as bankrupt as Spiro Agnew's fiscal morality. To turn the country back to the forces that have brought it to the brink of economic ruin is no solution to anything. We can only hope that the next "tribune of the people," whoever he may be, will be morally straight in addition to being philosophically right.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Careful scrutiny of Ford urged

WASHINGTON — Rep. Gerald R. Ford's confirmation as Vice President is insured by the cozy, clubbable spirit that enfolds a 25-year veteran of the House of Representatives.

But that should not foreclose a thorough inquiry into the sources of secret and unreported campaign contributions to Ford's congressional races in 1970 and 1972.

By comparison with the big gobbets of money fed into the Nixon campaign this is peanuts. Coming as the money apparently did from financial and industrial sources expecting favors or at least favorable consideration in return, this is one more example of the evils of the system of campaign financing by big money that reached a scandalous climax in 1972.

The Agnew case is in itself a sufficient warning for those who might want to let the Ford confirmation slide through. One of the mysteries out of that scandal is why the facts of Spiro Agnew's wheeling and dealing in Maryland were not brought to light when he was tapped by Richard Nixon in Miami Beach to be his running mate in 1968.

Was the FBI asked to investigate? And, if they investigated, were the results of the investigation ignored?

THE AGNEW AFFAIR cannot be simply filed and forgotten, nor can anything he now says mitigate the bill of particulars filed by Attorney General Elliot Richardson with the Baltimore court.

His sentence was a slap on the wrist. Compassion for a man disgraced in the second highest office in the land may have dictated the deal that was made with the Department of Justice.

But it will seem to many one more piece of evidence that the law means one thing for the powerful and the rich and another thing for the powerless and the poor. In a brief excursion into Middle America I heard comments such as this: "What would have happened to me if I had been guilty of evading my income tax? You know I wouldn't have got off as easy as that."

Ford has a respectable, if undistinguished, record in the House. As minority leader he has never wavered in his support of the Administration's foreign and domestic policies. This may be the function of the Republican leader in the swarming mass of the House — to me-too and to round up as many votes as possible.

In helping to sustain the President's vetoes Ford has been the faithful Dutch boy with his finger in the dike.

ONE OF the few initiatives he has taken was his effort to bring about the impeachment of Justice William O. Douglas. The minority leader rounded up close to 150 signatures on a resolution to impeach the justice who is about to equal the record of the longest service of any judge ever to serve on the high tribunal.

Promoting the Douglas impeachment, Ford said that the cause for removal could be any crime the House decided on. This opened a broad avenue, with special significance now that Ford is about to hold an office subject to impeachment.

The principal charge against Douglas was his connection with the Parvin Foundation and the allegation that the foundation had ties with organized crime and the Las Vegas gambling casinos.

This whole matter should be thoroughly examined in the course of the inquiry into Ford's fitness to be Vice President. Did the White House back the impeachment move? The answer to that question could be very interesting.

IMPEACHMENT is not just an unthinkable process. It was put into the Constitution by the Founding Fathers as a legitimate means for the removal of corrupt federal officers. There was not other way a President or a Vice President could be removed from office.

With the Supreme Court soon to pass on the President's contention that he can refuse anyone the right to hear the confidential tapes he made of all White House conversations, impeachment will be very much to the fore. Justice Douglas will be one of the nine to pass on the confidentiality issue. The President has spoken of the force of a "definitive" decision by the court but he has never defined "definitive."

These are mind-boggling times, with war and the threat of a larger war just over the horizon. Ford cannot be considered an ordinary Vice President, a chair warmer as so often in the past. His influence as an inflexible conservative can extend far beyond the function of breaking a tie vote in the Senate.

Clubbable spirit to one side, the country is entitled to know everything about Gerald Ford's past and present.

"AND THIS GOES FOR THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT, TOO."

Everyone looks down on him, and more bad things are said about him to his face than are said about the boss behind the boss' back.

Every office, no matter how small, has at least one moocher, and larger offices may have several. But they are all united by a common philosophy: They want something for nothing and, if possible, they want to mooch it from you. Here are a few familiar types of white-collar moochers you may have noticed in your office:

"Merton the Muncher" — Merton never buys a lunch or brings one. He depends upon the largesse of others for his midday calories. At lunchtime he goes from desk to desk, his eyes mournful, his tongue hanging out like a collie's, and stares in turn at his fellow workers until they toss him a tidbit from their brown bags: Everyone despises Merton, but they can't turn him down. He has gained 30 pounds in 10 years, and the company doctor tells him he'll have to go on a diet or die. Merton's probable choice: death before diet.

"Nelson Nicotine" — Twenty years ago Nelson decided to quit buying cigarets in hopes of breaking his one-pack-a-day habit. He decided he'd smoke only those he could borrow. Now, after two decades of mooching, he is smoking three packs of cigarets a day — and has an ominous-sounding cough.

"Cash and Carry Phil" — Phil only mooches money. He tells you it's a loan. "I'll pay you back next Friday and move you up a paragraph in my will — but he never keeps his word. What does Phil do with all the dough he mooches? The office gossip is that (1) he spends it on a love nest, or (2) he is paying blackmail to the boss' spinster secretary who caught Phil stealing from the petty cash fund when he was only an office boy.

"Kermit the Connoisseur" — This neurotic nut is the one-of-a-kind moocher. He may mooch only paper clips, pencils, ballpoint pens, or paper pads. But whatever it is, if you ever could see the inside of his desk, you'd find it overflowing with the stuff.

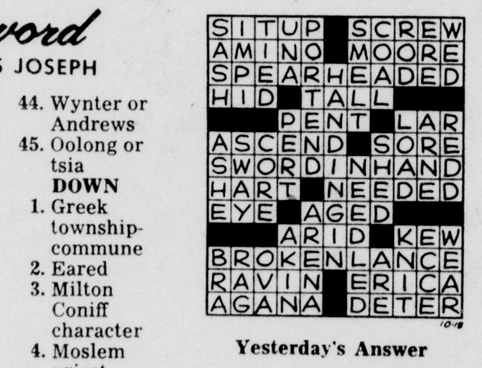

"Minnie the Moocher" — She takes two hours to put her makeup on in the morning, and she regards herself as the office femme fatale. Minnie's goal is to live on borrowed love, and she tries to do this by attempting to mooch either the husband or boy friend of every other girl in the office. Minnie gets a lot of anonymous threats over her home phone — all from women whose voices she thinks she recognizes. She regards the threats as a form of flattery to her prowess.

That leaves one kind of officer moocher unclassified. Who is he? If you don't know, ask your best friend — but don't be offended if he gives a frank answer.

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Don't want a divorce? Then forgive and forget

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are both 53. We have three married, college-educated children any parents would be glad to claim.

My wife and I married very young. (Shotgun wedding.) We are well off and respected in the community, but here's the problem:

My wife never worked outside the home. She spent all her time raising her children, and she did a fine job. About six years ago I caught her and the insurance man kissing in our kitchen. She swore it would never happen again. Two years later I caught this same man kissing her in the parking lot at a V.F.W. party. Again she swore she would never see him again. Last summer I caught them again. This time there was a big fight, and she confessed they had been seeing each other for six years, three afternoons a week!

She doesn't want a divorce, and this man (also married) doesn't want one either. I don't really want one.

Do I love her? No! I could walk away from her and never look back, but I'm too old to start over.

NO NAMES, PLEASE

DEAR NO: How other men handle such a situation may be of no help to you. You need to decide how YOU want to handle it. Talk it over with your wife. It will take a lot of forgiving and forgetting, and forgetting what you forgave to keep your marriage intact. You say you are too "old" to start over! Plenty of men would give a lot to be 53 again. Life is short. Make it sweet.

DEAR ABBY: Since our second child was born, our 3-year-old daughter has been helping me immensely by answering the phone when I am busy. She speaks quite clearly, and answers the phone with, "Hi, my mommy is busy with the baby, but she is coming now."

Some people hang up as soon as they realize a small child has answered. Our daughter is so proud that she can help Mommy in this way. It takes only a few moments to listen to her, and makes her so happy.

Maybe your printing this letter will make some people more tolerant of a small child who answers the phone.

BUSY YOUNG MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Maybe. But maybe not. Youngsters answer ing the phone is the pet peeve of a surprising number of adults.

DEAR ABBY: I'm not sure whether I have a problem. Here's the situation: I'm 26 and my wife, Diane, is 22. We got back from our honeymoon last week and are living temporarily with Diane's parents and her sister, who is 21.

Our first night back, Diane was about to leave our room to take a shower when I noticed she had nothing on at all. When I reminded her that her father was in the house she gave me a puzzled look and left the room, naked. That was nothing. Since then she often goes around the house with very little on. She even irons clothes in the kitchen in her bra and panties. Yesterday I came home and found her sitting on the floor watching TV completely naked while her sister was setting her hair. Her sister always wears a little something, but not much. Their father was in the next room reading the paper.

Last night when I spoke to her about it she said that's the way she was brought up. I let it drop and decided to write to you.

Abby, I have no sisters so I don't know how girls normally act in front of their fathers. Are my wife and her sister typical? If I'm the one who's out of line please tell me, and I'll keep quiet.

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: In some homes, nudity is accepted casually, but they are the exceptions-not the rule.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC-TV's documentaries in past years have been largely on the soft side, lacking hard questions and strong impact. This season, the network vows to reverse that tradition.

It's off to a good start tonight with a fine, well-documented study of coal mine safety — and lack of it — both above and below the scarred soil of West Virginia.

Entitled "West Virginia — Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Coal," its primary virtue isn't really the now familiar recitation of mining-related disasters in that state.

It's rather the show's patient examination of the failure both by the state and Washington to vigorously enforce the laws, even the weakest ones, that aim at preventing those disasters.

The key words are "vigorous enforcement" and the thrust of tonight's show is that few officials care to know what vigor means.

Much of the program checks on the impact in officialdom of last year's failure, during heavy winter rains, of a coal refuse dam owned by a subsidiary of Pittston Coal Co.

The failure was major, releasing flood waters that swept through a hollow at Buffalo Creek, W.Va., killing 125 persons there.

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Where do the new female stars come from? Right out of the fashion magazines and television commercials, according to the current trend.

The old movie story that starlets are plucked from chorus lines and malt shop stools is now just legend. Film producers now pick high-fashion models.

Examples:

Marisa Berenson, who appeared in "Death in Venice," "Cabaret" and is now starring with Ryan O'Neal in a Stanley Kubrick film.

Cybill Shepherd, director Peter Bogdanovich's star on and off the screen. She appeared in his "Last Picture Show," is now making "Daisy Miller" for him and also played the cool heiress in "The Heartbreak Kid."

Jennifer O'Neill, the beauty who brought love to teen-age Gary Grimes in "The Summer of '42". Her other films: "Lady Ice," "The Carey Treatment."

Twiggy, who did a creditable job in "The Boy Friend" and recently filmed a thriller called "W."

Latest to join the ranks of model-stars is Ann Turkel, whose slim brunette beauty has appeared on the cover of every fashion magazine in the United States and Europe. She is appearing opposite Richard Harris in "99 and 44-100 per cent Dead," directed by John Frankenheimer for 20th Century-Fox.

Having gone from cover girl to star in her first film, Turkel would seem to offer a case history for the casting trend. She denies it.

"I studied acting since I was 5," she said. "I was taking dramatic lessons from Sandy Meisner at the Neighborhood Playhouse in New York and I was 14 and I began playing in summer stock at 16.

"I went into modeling only because I thought it was better to be known as an employed model than an unemployed actress."

Her tall willowy frame and high-cheeked enigmatic face made her an immediate favorite with fashion photographers and magazine editors. After her first year as a model, she almost fulfilled her acting desires. Paramount picked her to star in a musical remake of "Roman Holiday," calling her a "present-day Audrey Hepburn." But the project never got off the ground, and she went back to modeling.

Her view of the model's life gives a hint on why so many of them seek careers in films.

"I'd be a liar if I didn't say it was boring," she remarked. "I know people are indignant when I say so; they ask, 'How can anything that pays so well be boring?' Well, it is.

"There are some photographers, like Richard Avedon, who are fun to work with. But with most of them it is sheer boredom."

During five years as a model, Ann Turkel made between $80,000 and $100,000 a year posing for the fashion pages and an occasional television commercial. She could have made more if she had been willing to take all kinds of modeling jobs.

New officers elected by Fellowship

New officers were elected by the Christian Women's Fellowship of First Christian Church during the business meeting held Tuesday evening at the church. Elected were: President, Mrs. Clark Gossard; vice president, Mrs. Talmadge Taylor; secretary, Mrs. Charles Ford; assistant, Mrs. Robert Maust; treasurer, Mrs. Paul Maughmer; and her assistant, Mrs. Charles Sheridan. They will be installed at the next meeting.

Mrs. Orpha Willis conducted the meeting and Mrs. Walter Parsley presented Scripture reading and led group singing.

Mrs. Everett Robbins, program chairman, spoke of decorations for the fall season, arrangements, and door hangings. She introduced Miss Ann Wallace of the Dayton Power and Light Company who gave a talk and demonstrated holiday lighting, both indoor and outdoor, with decorations.

During the social hour, a Halloween decor prevailed with a flower arrangement in the center of the refreshment table. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Parsley, Mrs. Glenn Jett, Mrs. Carl Elberfeld, Mrs. Dale Matthews, Miss Delores Cadwallader, Mrs. David Lucas, Mrs. Don Baker and Mrs. Coyt Stookey.

QUEEN CANDIDATE — Melinda Shaw, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Byers Shaw, 436 Jupiter St., is a candidate for queen at The College of Wooster's 55th Homecoming. 'Mindy,' a senior sociology major, plans to teach retarded children following graduation. She has been active in EKO's, a local sorority, having served as president last year. Her hobbies include swimming, water and snow skiing, bicycling and tennis. A brother, Steve, is also a student at Wooster.

Zeta CCL tours Laurel Oaks

Zeta Child Conservation members traveled to the Laurel Oaks Vocational School for the October meeting. A two hour guided tour of the campus were conducted by James Fleisher, superintendent of student services, when 15 members of Zeta CCL were informed of the many opportunities in the diversified career development programs. Following the tour, the group enjoyed refreshments prepared by one of the Food Service classes.

Pecan orders and Christmas card orders should be turned into the treasurer, Mrs. Ronald Warner, soon. Profits from these sales go into the club's philantrhropic fund.

The next meeting will be Nov. 20 in the home of Mrs. Paul Hughes. The annual talent sale will be featured at this time.

Local girls attend OEA Convention

On Saturday, October 13, 1973, Region IV of the Office Education Association held its annual convention at Upper Arlington High School in Columbus. Five Cooperative Office Education students from Washington Senior High School attended. Diana Brown was a candidate for the office of Vice-President; Vicki Clay gave the nominating speech for Diana and Karen Helmick gave the seconding speech; Dianna Combs and Rose Johnson were voting delegates.

The convention was opened by a general meeting, after which individual training sessions were held for club officers. In addition, employers from various businesses around Columbus spoke on career possibilities and the qualifications and techniques involved in securing jobs.

Mrs. Regina Del Ponte, COE Coordinator of Washington Senior High School, was assigned to assist Mrs. Noreen Armstrong, a representative of the Columbus Ohio Bell Telephone Employment office.

Following the sessions, a mock political campaign was held. The newly elected Region IV officers are: President, Brenda Thomas of Eastland; vice president, Carmen Moore of Delaware Hayes; secretary, Evelyn Fields of Franklin Heights; treasurer, Michael Pheneger of West H.S.; historian, Cathy Collins of Linden-McKinley H.S.; and parliamentarian, Dorothy Lewis of Eastmoor H. S.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Be alert to those who would mislead you, do not expect too much in the way of help from others and do not scatter energies. Taking such precautions, you can make a good go of things.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Searching for offbeat avenues toward achievement could lead you astray now. Do the best you can in your own field and gains will be yours.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Let your instincts guide you now since your chances of attaining goals are excellent. Imagination and a little daring could pay off handsomely.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Patience will be needed in a few tricky spots but day, on the whole, has a big potential. Avoid undue haste, anxiety. You CAN deliver the goods.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Tackle that difficult job you've been postponing, and your anxieties will vanish. Facing a problem head-on is half its solution.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

There will be tendencies to rush into visionary schemes, impulsiveness generally. Avoid! Put your guard up early, and KEEP it up!

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

You may have to accomplish more than anticipated, but do not let anything stymie you or your enthusiasm. Stars are on your side.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Do not jeopardize a fine opportunity to stabilize your REAL interests through indifference and DO by-pass nonessentials. Have a try at an eye-catching new method.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Some past agreements may have to be revised, strengthened. Competition should enliven the day in an interesting and challenging manner. Be responsive to new ideas.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Consider all propositions and suggestions offered, but do not be inveigled into anything that's NOT up your alley. Fine influences stimulate your ambition.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Excellent opportunities indicated, but they may not all be on the surface. You will have to seek some out for yourself. Control annoyance with "lesser lights."

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with zestful enthusiasm, a fine mind and an unusually strong sense of justice. You like people, can be a tremendous help in organizational work, and your thoughtful opinions, coupled with your fair-mindedness, would help you to excel as either a lawyer or jurist. Your practical and artistic gifts go hand in hand and if you are engaged in a prosaic occupation, you might take up one of the arts as a pasttime. Many noted statesmen, musicians, illustrators and designers have been Libra-born.

Two are to be elected Nov. 6. Domenico is a candidate for reelection but Mark Schaeper, whose term also ends this year, is not.

William Sollars spoke of the need for the two school levies — 1-mill renewal and 2-mill additional — which also will come to a vote. Mrs. Richard Maddux made an appeal for support of the .02-mill public health levy, which also will be on the Nov. 6 ballot.

Joseph O'Brien presented the charter for Cub Pack No. 4 to PTO President William Boylan. It was the 13th charter for the PTO-sponsored pack.

Two skating parties were approved, the first on Jan. 17 and the second on April 4 at Roller Haven.

Before and after the meeting parents visited the classrooms and talked with the teachers. Refreshments were served after adjournment.

Variance requests granted by board

Three variance requests received approval of the Washington C.H. Zoning Board of Appeals at its regular meeting Wednesday in the City Office Building.

The requests were submitted by Edward J. Wright, 604 High St., to establish a labeling business at his residence;

Chester H. Estep, 902 Pearl St., to sell Christmas trees at his residence.

GIANT PUFFBALL — There are puffballs and puffballs, but it's doubtful that many of them are as big as this one William Nungesser found on his farm near New Martinsburg. It weighs 10 pounds and measures 4 feet and one inch in curcumference. There were many others in the field, but none could compare with the giant. Nungesser said he has been gathering puffballs for years, but never found one so huge. Puffballs are of the Lycoperdaceae family of fungus and are neither mushrooms nor toadstools. Pure white inside, Nungesser said they are delicious to eat when peeled, sliced and fried.

Two men are fined after gun incidents

A Washington C.H. man, charged with discharging a firearm within the city limits in connection with the shooting of 20-year-old Steve Haithcock, was fined $25 and court costs in Municipal Court Wednesday.

Donald E. Cooper, 26, of 321 Florence St., was fined $25 by acting Municipal Judge John P. Case after he pleaded guilty to the charge. Neither Haithcock nor Mark Pettiford, reported to have been the intended victim of the shots, had signed affidavits which would have enabled police to press more serious charges.

Cooper allegedly began firing after an argument with Pettiford and two pistol slugs struck Haithcock who is in a Columbus hospital.

Herman Merritt, 56, of 615 High St., failed to appear in court to answer the same charge and forfeited $100 bond. Merritt was charged with discharging a firearm within the corporation limits after he wounded his wife during a domestic quarrel. She, too, refused to press other charges.

Robert M. George, 24, of 418 S. Fayette St., was fined $200 and court costs and received a suspended 30-day jail term when he was found guilty of possession of marijuana. He was sentenced to another 30 days in jail, 27 of which were suspended, for being found in a place where marijuana was kept. He was fined $50 and costs on that charge.

FOUR OTHER persons were scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Wednesday on non-traffic charges.

POLICE

Fined:

Fred Mabra, 52, of 1004 John St., $25 and suspended 30-day jail term, defrauding an innkeeper.

SHERIFF

Bond forfeitures:

James M. Lute, 39, Jamestown, $50, intoxication.

Orbie S. Lute, 63, Jamestown, $50, intoxication.

The Miami Tracer

Lora Brooks, Editor-in-Chief

MTHS Seniors of Week

LORA BROOKS

DEIDRE LANGE

MARIANNE ARNOLD

MARIANNE ARNOLD

By BARBARA MARVIN

Lora Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brooks, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, lists Physics and Advanced Math as her two favorite subjects. Along with these courses, Lora is also taking English Composition, Sociology, Government, World Literature, and Journalism.

Not only is Lora active in her studies, but also in extracurricular activities. She is the secretary-treasurer of the Bowling Club, secretary of the Science Club, and participates in Y-Teens and Future Teachers of America. Last spring Lora was inducted into National Honor Society. She is also a member of the MiTra staff, and is co-editor in chief of the Miami Tracer. Lora attends Madison Mills United Methodist Church.

LORA HOPES to obtain a NROTC scholarship and attend Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where she will major in physical oceanography. If not, she plans to attend the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Fla.

Reading, writing, and being outdoors are Lora's favorite pastimes. She said this about being a senior: "My years at Miami Trace have been great, but I'll be glad when graduation comes."

"My years at Miami Trace have been interesting and enjoyable, but I am looking forward to graduation and college." This comment about graduation is Deidre Lange's, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lange, Rt. 1, New Holland.

Deidre is very active both in and out of school. This year she is studying Psychology, Music Theory, Sr. Homemaking, American Government, English Composition, Journalism and Family Living, and is a member of Senior Choir.

She is a junior Sunday School Chorister, and is in Seminary and MIA in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints at Grove City. At Miami Trace, she is a member of National Honor Society, American Field Service, Y-Teens, Future Teachers, Dramatic Arts Club, and Folksingers, and is an office worker. Deidre is also in Junior Leadership, Country Cousins 4-H Club, and the Farm Bureau Regional Cabinet.

Deidre is interested in music as a career and plans to pursue her talents at Brigham Young University.

Marianne Arnold is the third featured senior this week. Marianne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Arnold, Rt. 2, Washington C. H.

Marianne is a member of Marching Band, Pep Band, Y-Teens, AFS, Future Teachers, FHA, National Honor Society, Junior Leadership, Junior Fairboard, and two 4-H clubs, the Staunton Stitch and Stir and the Concord Swine.

MATH AND English have been Marianne's major academic subjects in high school. This year, Psychology, Advanced Math, American Government, Senior Homemaking, Physiology, English Composition, and Band are her subjects. Her favorite subject is Government. Marianne's hobbies are horseback riding, sewing, band, and swimming.

Marianne plans to attend college and to major in elementary education, but is undecided as to which college she will attend.

Her comments on graduation were: "I think Miami Trace is a really great school, and I've enjoyed all the clubs and activities I've been in. I just hope all the underclassmen can enjoy and gain as much from their high school years as I have."

Introducing . . .

By DAWN SCHLICHTER

Now teaching Typing I and business math at Miami Trace is Mrs. Charlotte Cassio. Mrs. Cassio also advises the yearbook, the MiTra.

Originally from Sabina, Mrs. Cassio attended Weber College in Florida for two years and received a Bachelor of Science degree from Wright State University. She was employed as an accountant for the Greyhound Lines in San Francisco for four years and was employed at Proctor and Gamble in Cincinnati for two years.

MRS. CHARLOTTE CASSIO

Music, sports, swimming, and playing the organ are among Mrs. Cassio's hobbies. She is currently residing near Sabina with her nine-year-old son, Irvine.

When asked her impressions of Miami Trace, Mrs. Cassio commented, "I think that the students are friendly and enthusiastic, and the faculty is friendly." She added that the school has a great deal of new equipment, and Miami Trace is a beautiful building.

News service staff reports MT activities

By KATHY JUNK

To give the community an accurate, concise, and interesting account of what goes on at Miami Trace is the job of its news service.

Lora Brooks is editor-in-chief for the first semester and Barb Marvin for the second semester. Photographers are David Foster and Tom Payton. Anyone who wishes to write should give his name to the editors or the advisor.

Members of the Cherry Hill Parent-Teacher Association have voted to sever its affiliation with the national and state PTA and become an independent Parent-Teacher Organization.

After contributions of $35 to each fulltime teacher, Title 1 and the art teacher and $75 to Cub Scout Pack 229 had been approved, the group, at its first meeting of the school year, voted to support the two school levy proposals at the Nov. 6 election. Lee Lynch explained the need for the 1-mill renewal and 2-mill additional levies for the city schools.

President John Rich introduced the teachers, Mrs. Judy Jennings, first grade; Mrs. Norma Wilson, second grade; Mrs. Versa Angus, third grade; Mrs. Edna Watts, fourth grade and principal; Mrs. Caroline Shaper, fifth grade, and Mrs. Sam Forsythe, sixth grade.

The other officers, who also were presented, are Roger Mesecher, first vice president; Mrs. Watts, second vice president; Mrs. Barbara Eakins, secretary, and Mrs. Lou Ann Borden, treasurer.

Ohio Perspective

Educational TV blankets state

By KEN DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For the first time educational television can beam lessons into any schoolroom in Ohio.

The final transmitter completing the TV blanket over the state was completed at Cambridge during the summer and went into operation this month.

Already, half of all of Ohio's elementary and secondary public school children — 1.2 million of 2.4 million — are under contract for TV lessons.

"Virtually all schools in Ohio, if they choose, may receive instructional television," said Martin W. Essex, state public instruction superintendent.

All schools can so receive, said Robert Bowers, assistant state superintendent of instruction, but some areas would have weak signals.

The 110th General Assembly appropriated $1,212,500 in federal revenue sharing funds to correct weak spots between transmission areas of Ohio's 12 transmitters.

The state anticipates that 1.8 million Ohio school children may be given some TV instruction next school year.

Most of today's television instruction is concentrated in elementary grades with some secondary schools involved, Bowers said. Big concern now is the quality of the instructional programs available.

Ohio's interest sparked formation last May of the national Agency for Instructional Television. AIT plans meetings next week around the country to plot production of high quality instruction. Ohio officials will attend a meeting in Atlanta.

Lessons cover health, reading and social studies — enrichment programs that Bowers said supplement rather than replace classroom instruction.

A program produced for the state at Ohio State University on economics had what Bowers called fantastic success and now is in use nationally. Another OSU product on environment and a third called "Images and Things" about art are typical programs.

The state assured 960 hours of educational programming on each of the dozen stations by awarding contracts totalling $1.356 million.

School districts contract with the educational TV corporations and rates range from 25 cents to $1 per pupil. The state Department of Education augments school district contributions by 50 cents per pupil.

Top-ranked WCH eyes shutout mark

Lions meet winless Wehrle team Friday

By MIKE FLYNN

It'll be one tense Friday night after another for Washington C. H.'s Blue Lions in their merciless search for a South Central Ohio League football championship.

However, Washington C. H.'s SCOL timetable will be delayed, providing an extra week for crafty head coach Maurice Pfeifer's top-ranked Blue Lions to prepare for the three crucial league appointments on the 1973 worksheet.

THE POWERFUL Blue Lions, ranked atop The Associated Press' Class AA high school football poll for the third consecutive week, will entertain a winless Columbus Bishop Wehrle team at 8 p.m. Friday in the annual Parents Night contest at Gardner Park Stadium.

Probably the most important aspect of Friday's non-league outing will be the luster unbeaten Washington C. H. can add to its scrapbook of season accomplishments.

A new school record looms for the miserly Washington C. H. defense which has keyed the Lions' six straight wins. The Lion defense has fired six consecutive shutouts and needs only one more to shatter a 25-year-old school record for whitewashes during one season.

The Lions matched a record turned in by the 1948 Washington C. H. team with 44-0 blanking of Wilmington a week ago and now have strung together a remarkable string of 29 scoreless quarters over a two-year span. The shutout win over Wilmington surpassed a performance by the legendary 1952 Washington C. H. team which blanked five opponents.

While the brawny defenders have sparked Washington C. H. to the perfect record, the ball-controlling Lion offense has been an awesome weapon, stacking up a total of 220 points in the six games for an average of 36.7 a game. Senior tailback Chuck Wilson, a bonafide All-Ohio candidate, has picked up 781 yards and 102 points thus far and is a runaway leader in the SCOL scoring race.

KEVIN TERRY, the Lions' speedy wide receiver, is a doubtful starter for Friday's game in which Washington C. H. will be looking for its fourth win in a row over non-league teams this year. Terry has been sidelined with a throat infection and Pfeifer plans to employ sophomore Dewey Foster with Larry Howell at the flanker spot if Terry's not ready. Defensively, senior speedster Jeff Willis will be replacing Terry in the secondary.

Senior Jeff Tuvell, who suffered a shoulder separation in the Portsmouth game, will return for Friday's contest and will alternate with sophomore Tim O'Flynn at the defensive end position. Pfeifer said sophomore quarterback Tom Adnerson is still shelved with a back injury.

Although Columbus Wehrle will bring an 0-5-1 record into Friday's game, the Wolverines have shown some signs of improving. The Wolves and Columbus Hartley struggled to a 14-14 tie a week ago. Wehrle has lost to Hamilton Township, Columbus South, Dayton Kiser, Benjamin Logan and Columbus Ready. Wehrle is 0-1-1 inside the Central Catholic League race with dates against Columbus Watterson and Columbus DeSales following this week's game with the Lions.

The Wolves have a wave of speed that delights second-year head coach Bill Wood, who looks to be passing more this year. Wehrle, according to Pfeifer's scouting chart, will offer a variety of offensive formations including one in which the quarterback is the only player in the backfield.

John Iacoboni, a 170-pound senior, is Wehrle's tailback after beginning the season at the quarterback spot. The fullback will be Mark Gebhardt, a 175-pound junior. Bob Kazlausky, a 165-pound senior, will be the split end Dan Plank is the tight end.

Iacoboni, Surgio, Bates and Plank form the defensive front wall along with middle guard Tom Hanf, a 5-11, 178-pound senior. Tom Gerhardt, a 170-pound senior, and Reis are the linebackers. Gerhardt and Reis are the team's co-captains. The cornerbacks are Alan Talib, a 130-pound sophomore, and Rob Hatem with Tom Schweiterman and Plank in the secondary.

The Wolves will employ both 5-2 and 6-2 formations of defense. Pfeifer said they will also stunt and blitz the linebackers and display a zone pass defense.

Lions grab healthy margin in UPI poll

Head coach Maurice Pfeifer's unbeaten Blue Lions hold a 159-117 lead over second-place Cincinnati Reading in the UPI ratings. Akron St. Vincent - St. Mary is third, followed by Oberlin Firelands, Minerva, Ironton, Columbus Watterson, Dayton Jefferson, Urbana and Toronto.

Computerized prep grid poll released

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green, Akron Garfield, Lima Catholic and Ashtabula St. John are new faces this week atop the Ohio High School Athletic Association's computerized football ratings.

Bowling Green and Akron Garfield took over regional leads in Class AAA, Lima Catholic moved to the front in a Class AA region and Ashtabula St. John is a new pacesetter in Class A.

The ratings are compiled by a Columbus firm and are based on the strength of a team's schedule and those of its opponents. Margins of victory are not considered.

The regional leaders automatically qualify for the state playoff semifinals after the regular season is completed.

Staub sparks Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Something finally has taken the play away from the Oakland A's internal battles—Rusty Staub's bat.

The A's, who have grabbed most of the headlines lately with juicy stories of clubhouse unrest, at last took a back seat in the World Series to the New York Mets Wednesday night.

Providing some news of his own, Staub dismissed a painful right shoulder and knocked in five runs to help the Mets beat the A's 6-1 and square the best-of-seven series at two games apiece.

"I did a lot of work during batting practice and did several things to adjust for my sore shoulder," said Staub after hitting a three-run homer and two-run single.

He wouldn't say, but whatever it was that Staub did, it worked wonders.

"Under the circumstances, my performance was unbelievely satisfying," said Staub, who also had two hits and a walk in a 4-for-4 night. "When you've been playing in the big leagues for about 11 years and always wanted to play in a World Series, well, this is a great, great feeling."

Staub's shoulder has been a daily topic since last week, when he hurt it while making a stunning catch in the National League playoffs against the Cincinnati Reds.

He still can't throw well—but, obviously, he can hit. Even if it is to the opposite field.

"I hit a fastball," he said about the clout over the leftcenter field fence at Shea Stadium off Ken Holtzman in the first inning. "I hit the ball perfectly so that it could carry that way. I knew the wind was gusting out there.

"I thought, though, that it would fall between the fielders. I was kind of surprised when it went over the fence. I was running as hard as I could because I wasn't sure it was out. It was the first ball I've hit out since the shoulder injury—and obviously, the wind helped."

The blast was the beginning of the end for Holtzman, the A's winner in the opening game of the World Series last Saturday. After the 20-game-winning left-hander walked John Milner and gave up a single to Jerry Grote, he took a shower.

Staub's two-run single highlighted a three-run fourth inning that was mere icing for young Jon Matlack's first World Series victory.

The power-throwing left-hander limited the A's to merely one unearned run and three hits before leaving with a stiff shoulder after eight innings.

"I learned a little about the A's in the first game and used it to my advantage tonight," said Matlack, the losing pitcher in game No. 1.

Matlack considered Wednesday night's assignment more important than the opener last Saturday in Oakland "because we were down two games to one Wednesday night and would have been just about out of it with a loss."

He encountered rough going in only one inning—the fourth, when the A's scored their only run with the help of a New York error.

After Joe Rudi struck out, Sal Bando reached first on Wayne Garrett's boot and went to third on a single by Reggie Jackson. Then Bando came home as Gene Tenace bounced out to short.

Matlack, last year's Rookie of the Year in the National League, couldn't finish, though. His arm stiffened and he had to watch the ninth inning from the bench.

"My shoulder was really tight out there," said Matlack. "It impaired my throwing. It took something off my fastball because I couldn't come around over the top-I had to throw three-quarter arm."

Ray Sadecki pitched the ninth, but gave New York Manager Yogi Berra some anxious moments before nailing it down. He loaded the bases with two out before striking out Bert Campaneris as most of the paid 54,817 fans roared their approval.

Finley had started a cause celebre earlier in this Series by "firing" Mike Andrews for making two costly errors in Sunday's 10-7 loss to the Mets in Oakland.

Although Andrews was back in uniform Wednesday night after Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn ordered him reinstated, the A's were still smoldering with unrest. Oakland Manager Dick Williams was so fed up with the situation that he reportedly decided to quit his job after this World Series.

Andrews made his first appearance since Sunday, in a pinch-hitting role, and grounded out in the eighth inning. He received a standing ovation from the sympathtic fans when he stepped to the plate and a hefty reaction after he went out.

"It was great—just great," Andrews said about the crowd's hurrahs. "I don't think I've every had cheers like that before. I should have acknowledged it, I guess, but I had only thought when I went up to bat and that was to get a hit."

STAUB WARMS UP — Outfielder Rusty Staub of the New York Mets, who injured his shoulder when he ran into a wall during the NL playoffs, ignored the painful shoulder and drove in five runs to lead the Mets to a 6-1 win over Oakland in the fourth game of the World Series.

'Cradle of Coaches' Miami adds Bill Mallory to list

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Add another name to Miami of Ohio's endless list as the nation's "Cradle of Coaches": Bill Mallory.

The 38-year-old coach of "the other Miami" is the latest product this school of 13,000 has become famed for: successful coaches.

Mallory, who has directed the Redskins to four consecutive 7-3 seasons, has the Mid-American Conference club off to one of its fastest starts in history.

Miami is unbeaten in five games and nationally ranked in the The Associated Press poll even though it is one of the smallest major colleges among the Top 20. Miami has gained notice at the expense of two big schools—Purdue and South Carolina.

Mallory has made believes— not an easy challenge considering the continuous act he's had to follow.

He succeeded Glen Schembechler, who left Miami in 1969 to direct the University of Michigan to two Big 10 titles, a pair of Rose Bowl appearances and a 43-6 record.

Before Schembechler it was John Pont, who won 43 of 65 games in seven years at Miami and went on to take sophomore dominated Indianaato the Rose Bowl in 1967.

Secretariat sets final appearance

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretariat will end his racing career in Canada just like Man O'War did more than 50 years ago.

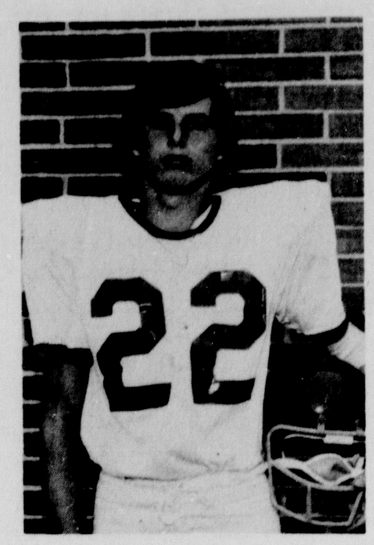

Secretariat, known to his fans as "Super Red," will make his farewell appearance Oct. 28 in the Canadian Championship at Woodbine in Toronto, trainer Lucien Laurin said Wednesday.

Terms of a record $6.08 million syndication, call for Secretariat to retire from racing no later than Nov. 15 and go to stud.

GARTH COX

MARK JOHNSON

WCH Players of Week

Two seniors have been selected as Washington C. H.'s Players of the Week for their performances in the Blue Lions' 44-0 win over Wilmington in the annual homecoming game last Friday night.

Cox, a 6-foot-5, 226-pounder, figured in on 11 tackles and received a perfect 100 per cent execution rating after the Washington C. H. coaching staff had graded Friday's game films.

THE SENIOR defensive tackle, who doubles as an offensive guard, was one of the key defenders in the Blue Lions' record-matching sixth straight shutout. The stingy Lion defense has now stacked up 29 straight scoreless quarters over a two-season span.

Johnson, a quick senior halfback, gained 34 yards in five rushes and grabbed four passes from senior quarterback Alan Coppock for 68 yards. The 5-foot-7, 154-pound team captain was on the receiving end of a 19-yard scoring strike from Coppock. Johnson and Coppock also combined for one set of extra points.

Head coach Maurice Pfeifer also singled out the defensive performances of Chuck Wilson, Steve Mosley and Duke Willis. Wilson intercepted a pass, recovered a fumble and blocked a Wilmington field goal attempt.

Offensively, Pfeifer praised the efforts of the entire offensive line, Coppock and Wilson. Coppock completed six of 10 passes for 54 yards, while Wilson gained 182 yards in 23 carries and scored a total of four touchdowns.

The Lions, 6-0 on the season, will entertain Columbus Wehrle in the annual Parents Night game Friday at Gardner Park Stadium.

Browns seek to revive offense

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns hope to move their sputtering offense into high gear Sunday against the winless Houston Oilers, but the hand on the shift lever is attached to the arm of quarterback Mike Phipps.

The Cleveland team's lack of offense was blamed for their 17-9 loss Monday night to the Miami Dolphins. All of the Browns' points came on Don Cockroft field goals.

Phipps' passing has been less than sparkling in the early season, and the Browns' passing attack is No. 11 in the American Football Conference so far. Only Baltimore and Buffalo, which so far hasn't needed to pass, rank behind Cleveland.

But the sturdy, former Purdue University star demonstrated his passing ability last year, his first as a starter for the Browns. And Coach Nick Skorich says he is confident things will change.

"There is no reason that our passing shouldn't be much better," Skorich said.

"We had a special meeting of the quarterbacks, receivers and running backs," he said. "I took charge of that one myself, and we went over Monday night's game.

Lions vault in computer

COLUMBUS — Washington C. H.'s Blue Lions, the top-ranked Class AA in both state wire service polls, vaulted this week in the Ohio High School Athletic Association's computerized rating system.

The Lions, tied for 20th with Versailles a week ago, now hold the 14th spot in Class AA Region 8. The Lions have 61 points, while Cincinnati Reading, the poll leader, has 183.20.

Browns linebacker Billy Andrews out

Andrews, who has seen a fair amount of action despite back problems of a few months' duration, will undergo further tests, the spokesman said Wednesday.

Longshots winners at Lebanon Raceway

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — It was a night for longshots Wednesday at Lebanon Raceway.

The harness action opened with the daily double paying $693.40 on the 5-7 combination of R Redtime and Darn Worthy.

Don McCune leads in bowling prizes

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Don McCune and Barry Asher remain well out in front in the Professional Bowlers Association money ranks, but four others are bunched within about $1,500 of each other well below the top pair.

McCune, of Munster, Ind., finished second in the Regional Champions Classic at Clearwater, Fla., earlier this week, but it was good enough to keep him on top of the money ladder with a total of $65,255. Asher, of Costa Mesa, Calif., had $52,686.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

How to Clean the Eardrum

Can an eardrum be injured by using a cotton swab on a stick?

Miss F.L., Iowa

Dear Miss L.:

The cotton tip applicator is the gentlest of the instruments popularly used to clean the ears and to remove wax.

Certainly, these are a lot safer than the paper clips, bobby pins, ball point pens, hairpins, and the long sharp fingernails that are so energetically used by so many people.

Cotton-tip applicators, which seem to be so gentle, may also be injurious if carelessly handled. The cotton is so tightly bound that it can injure the wall of the ear canal.

For this reason it is advisable that the cotton on these applicators be carefully fluffed and made softer before applying.

Fortunately, the ear canal has its own anatomical defense. Its curved structure almost always prevents the eardrum inself from being injured.

Did you know that wax serves a definite function? It lubricates the outer ear and protects the canal from invasions by dust, dirt and other particles. Many people go through life without ever having wax removed by the doctor. Others find that wax can accumulate and become so hardened that it puts pressure on the canal and, occasionally, on the eardrum.

Those with this tendency should have the wax safely removed at regular intervals by their doctors.

When I drink even the slightest amount of brandy my heart begins to palpitate, and I feel as if I'm going to faint.

Could this be psychological?

Mr. D.B., N.Y.

Dear Mr. B.:

For some reason, many people want to ascribe a psychological reason for everything they don't understand.

I doubt that this is the answer to your problem, especially since you have so clearly identified palpitations and brandy.

Brandy can be a stimulant that will cause a sudden episode of rapit heart beats in some people.

Tobacco can do the same thing. The combination of tobacco and brandy is known to be able to set off an attack of paroxysmal tachycardia, or a sudden temporary spell of quickening of the heart beat.

Since you have learned that there is a causal relationship I am sure you will find that by avoiding brandy you will also avoid the unpleasant, and sometimes terrifying, fluttering sensation you describe.

Our child has "infatile eczema." Her skin is red and irritated. Could she eventually outgrow this?

Mrs. E.E., Wis.

Dear Mrs. E.:

The word "eczema" is derived from the Greek, meaning "to boil."

The red, angry appearance of the skin typifies infantile eczema. Since it is considered an allergic reaction, efforts must be made to track down the offender.

When this is found, and with proper drugs and lubricants, the chances are great for complete recovery.

Fr. Connelly named Yule parade marshal

FR. RICHARD CONNELLY

The Rev. Father Richard J. Connelly, pastor of St. Colman's Catholic Church in Washington C.H., chaplain of the Cincinnati Bengals, and a nationally-known speaker, will serve as grand marshal for the 1973 Christmas parade here, according to chairman Eddie Fisher.

The parade will be held beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 1.

Other parade commitments to date include the Great Lakes Naval Band, the Banana Splits from Kings Island and the Borden Burger Christmas float from Columbus.

Fisher said that Frank Giacomini, president of the Washington C.H. Jaycees, and members of that organization are visiting the Circleville Pumpkin Show this week to obtain pictures and information on commercial floats that local businesses will be asked to sponsor in this year's event.

Washington Senior High School band director Charles L. Shaffer is in charge of the high school bands which will be entering the parade . The event promises to have in the vicinity of 15 top area high school units.

Several other facets of the parade are now taking shape according to Fisher, including princess and queen judging, the parade route lineup, installation of decorations and collection finances to support the event.

The 1973 parade theme is "A Christmas Carol", and the committee is in hopes that several local groups and organizations will enter floats adhering to the chosen theme. More details on entry information will be released in the coming week, Fisher said.

Democrat groups planning dinner

Tentative plans for a Democratic dinner to be held during February were discussed Wednesday night at a joint meeting of the Fayette County Democrat Club and the Fayette County Democratic Executive Committee at the Terrace Lounge.

Joseph Murphy, president of the county Democrat club, said plans for the dinner will be announced at a later date.

Raymond Burchfield agreed to coordinate John Glenn's campaign for the U.S. Senate in Fayette County and Milbourne Barney announced that a testimonial dinner will be held Dec. 14 for State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey will be the speaker at the $25-a-plate dinner in Columbus.

WINS NEW AUTO

Pam Dailey, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, a sales manager with Fashion Two Twenty cosmetics, has won an air-conditioned Chevrolet Impala as a sales leader with the cosmetics firm.

She recently received an all expense paid trip to pick up her new car at the Fashion Two Twenty home office in Aurora.

B'burg PTO backs MTHS bond issue

BLOOMINGBURG — The Bloomingburg Parent-Teacher Organization has endorsed the $2,036,000 bond issue for a new Miami Trace junior high school and maintenance of the present elementary buildings which will come to a vote at the Nov. 6 election. A contribution of $25 for the campaign was approved at a meeting Wednesday night.

The action was taken after Dr. Donald E. Mossbarger, Assistant Superintendent Steve Yambor and Dwight Duff pointed out that the "weakest link in the Miami Trace education system is the junior high school area; overcrowded conditions in the elementary schools inhibits the elementary program and property owners have been given tax relief through rollbacks, personal property tax phaseouts and the homestead exemption."

Since this was the first meeting of the new school year, President Walter Smithson introduced the ways and means committee members, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Moore, chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Cartwright, Mr. and Mrs. James Mace, Mr. and Mrs. Art Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Dean and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Von Bargen. The committee presented tentative plans for a spring carnival and two skating parties. Dates were not set.

Ronald Gottendick, the new principal, introduced the teachers.

Mrs. Robert Stayrook urged support of the .02 of a mill public health levy, saying "it is important for the well being of the entire county," and Marion Stockwell was presented as a write-in candidate for the county school board.

Refreshments were served in Halloween-bedecked classrooms by Mrs. Ferol Lewis, Mrs. Thomas Luster, Mrs. Ronald Meredith and Mrs. Eddy McCoy.

Columbus TV personnel strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fourteen on-the-air employes of Columbus television station WTVN went on strike Wednesday in a contract dispute with the Taft Broadcasting Co.

Spokesmen for the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists said the company has refused to negotiate a number of contract issues. They said the issues included wages, improved fringe benefits and better working conditions.

The union members said they had been working without a contract since Sept. 17.

Company officials were not available for comment.

Suspect arson

KSU Security Director Robert Malone said police were checking to see if the fire, in one of the dormitory's recreation rooms, was related to an Oct. 8 wastebasket fire in a nearby room.

Bottle damage

A beer bottle was thrown through a window of the Dunn Bait and Sporting Goods store in Waterloo at 2:45 a.m. Wednesday, the sheriff's department was told.

The incident was reported by Vanett Dunn, who was awakened by the noise. The Dunns live behind their store.

Boy struck by auto

A 9-year-old boy was injured by an automobile on Delaware Street at 11:56 a.m. Wednesday.

Stanley G. Seymour, 705 Campbell St. was struck by a car driven by Beverly A. Smith, 31, of 220 Walnut St. when he ran in front of her vehicle.

The boy received an abrasion of the right side of his chest and contusions from contact with the pavement. He was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released.

No citation was issued.

AN ACCIDENT at the junction of the west access of U.S. 35 and the CCC Highway sent another person to the hospital Wednesday, at 1:50 p.m.

Elmer G. Looney, 59, Stafford Rd., pulled onto the CCC into the path of Joan M. Browder, 46, Wilmington.

The latter was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released.

Damage was moderate to both cars, and Looney was charged with failure to yield right of way.

A CAR cutting too wide a swing while turning, resulted in an accident Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

Damage to the cars was slight.

CAC schedules annual meeting

A list of priorities and a budget for the year beginning March 1, 1974, will be taken up at the annual meeting of the Fayette County Community Action Commission next Wednesday in Grace United Methodist Church, the Rev. Ralph Wolford, pastor of the First Baptist Church and chairman of the commission, said.

A progress report on the various programs under CAC supervision will be made, along with a general discussion of plans for the future.

Man injured in fall

JEFFERSONVILLE—A man walking through an alley in Jeffersonville, tripped and fell, striking his mouth on a curb at 9:33 p.m. Wednesday. Phillip Null, 19, of Jamestown was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital where 10 stitches were required to close his wounds. He was then released.
